"Deficiency of information in Japanese English-language newspapers is completed very successfully by an English newspaper in Kobe The Japan Chronicle . . on its pages can often be found criticisms of the political and economic actions of the Japanese Government and various other information which gives the opportunity to observe and to analyse the Japanese economic situation. In addition to the usual material obtainable from all the Japanese English-language newspapers, The Japan Chronicle gives a very detailed and comprehensive review of the foreign trade of Japan. It regularly prints statistics pertaining to Japanese exports and the state of the home market."—Extracts from U.S.S.R. Chamber of Commerce Journal.

The Buses:
A Constructive Suggestion

To the Editor of the
"NORTH-CHINA DAILY NEWS"

SIR,—I shall appreciate it if you will grant me space in your columns to voice my complaint in regard to the Bus Company service to passengers on Route No. 12.

There are only three such buses put on this route four times a day during the rush hours, and instead of catering to the regular No. 12 bus passengers I am at a loss to figure out the reason why the Bus Company have set their rates so as to encourage short distance passengers who could definitely use the No. 10 Route which schedules buses regularly at 2-minute intervals.

It is very annoying at times to have to be packed into buses like sardines and later find that a large number of passengers will alight at the Chekiang Road corner (buses proceeding West).

This is a daily occurrence and I have not complained, but when I, a regular No. 12 bus passenger, was denied admittance into two buses because of their being overcrowded and when the third and last bus arrived at my stop (corner of Honan Road) a regular No. 10 bus passenger, who was taking advantage of the low fare signalled the bus to proceed. I feel thoroughly justified in lodging this complaint.

Fortunately at the time, however, the driver of the bus recognized me as a regular passenger and waited until the conductor had opened the gate and allowed me to squeeze through.

When the conveyance arrived at both Chekiang and Yu Ya Ching Road corners, I counted at least 20 persons had got off at these two sections.

I would like to point out that the bus was so overcrowded that the conductor could not collect all the fares from these short-distance customers, resulting in a great number getting by with a free ride.

What annoys one most is that these passengers could very well use the No. 10 bus, which is on regular service, instead of packing into the No. 12 buses because of a cheaper rate.

Would it be asking too much of the Bus Company to increase the short distance fare from 3 cents to 5 cents which will make it 1 cent more than the No. 10 Route for the same distance.

By this revised rate the short-distance passengers will, without doubt, take the No. 10 bus and leave the No. 12 for the regular passengers.

May I suggest that one of the Bus Company's officials endeavour to board a No. 12 bus on the westbound trip at 5 o'clock; he will then realize what the unfortunate No. 12 bus passengers have to endure. He will know also that the short-distance passengers are of the labour class, which makes it all the more objectionable.

DISGUSTED.

Pimples:
Girl's Pathetic Letter

To the Editor of the
"NORTH-CHINA DAILY NEWS"

SIR,—I would appreciate it very much if you would print this letter in your paper, as I am very sincere and need advice.

Shanghai claims to have some of the most intelligent doctors in the world. Maybe so. But what about "skin specialists"?

For the past two years I have been treated for my skin. The doctor himself claims he does not know the real cause, but is trying to find it, with my time, money and good-nature. I am only twenty years of age, and some people have told me I will "grow out of it," but if so, they seem to think I have the patience to sit and wait. The lower side of my face has broken out now, previously being the upper.

I have tried everything. Two different kinds of injections, medicines and ultra-violet ray treatments. They help me at the beginning, but eventually the pimples return.

My health is good. The doctor himself admits he doesn't know the real reason. Perhaps glands, he says.

Has any other girl in Shanghai suffered so long with prominent pimples? If so, will she come forward and tell me if they have been cured for good, and who was the doctor? The outer condition of my skin is strong and healthy.

I know a young girl in Shanghai also, who has been taking skin treatments much longer than I have, and hasn't been cured yet. Have I to have a similar fate, if pimples are incurable?

My present doctor is one of the best, and his interests, I am sure, are not mercenary, as he knows very well I cannot pay much—and yet, why keep me hanging on? By the way, he is the second doctor. The first ruined my face completely, also claiming to be a "skin specialist."

I wish an absolutely honest and unmercenary friend would give me a little advice. I am afraid to go to another doctor, because I know I shall have to go through the same treatments (or perhaps a little varied) as my first doctor ordered me.

Perhaps I am wrong, but ultra-violet ray treatments are good for a while; if the treatment is stopped the condition of the skin will return back to the previous. And this has been confirmed by three girls, one of whom is here in Shanghai.

Any helpful advice will be very much appreciated by

BETTY BLUE.

British Unemployment:
Annual Autumn Appeal

To the Editor of the
"NORTH-CHINA DAILY NEWS"

SIR,—The British Chamber of Commerce and the China Association again make their annual Autumn appeal for donations to their Unemployment Fund.

The National Societies and other charitable organizations in Shanghai have been asked their opinions as to the advisability and necessity of making an appeal again this Autumn, and as a result of the replies received from them, it is felt that an appeal, despite the hard times, is very justifiable in view of the uncertainty of the immediate future and the possibility, or even the probability, of increased unemployment amongst British members of the community necessitating considerable repatriation expenses.

In previous years donations and subscriptions have been solicited for a period of six months, i.e., from November 1, to April 30. This year it is proposed, in view of the general financial stringency, to curtail this period to four months, that is from December 1, 1938 to March 31, 1939.

A Committee has been formed as in past years to receive donations and subscriptions and the precedent of distribution through the National charitable Associations and Organizations (the names of which appear below) will be followed this season:—

The Anzac Society.
British Women's Association (Social Service Board).
Canadian Club.
Charitable Organization Committee of King's Daughters' Society.
Royal Society of St. George.
Salvation Army (Employment Bureau).
Mrs. J. Burton Sayer's Work Party.
St. Andrew's Society.
St. David's Society.
St. Patrick's Society.
United Services' Association.

Profiteering:
A Chinese Protest

To the Editor of the
"NORTH-CHINA DAILY NEWS"

SIR,—I beg through your esteemed journal to raise my objection to the recent criminal wave, as I like to say of profiteering by raising house rentals during the hard times. It is not my condemnation only, I suppose, but of the majority of Shanghai people, that the most callous behaviour of human indecency is to make money when people are almost going naked, and this is yet another striking example of landlords' attempts to make suckers out of us all. I have been living in Gordon Road Terrace at the same place for years in a so-called modern, foreign-styled house; every way modern in its details except when rain comes. The eaves, roofs and drainage will then serve me like a ship in storm. As a rent payer I believe I have some right to demand a few repairs, but I finally decided not to make any owing to the fact that my request might after all be filed in the waste basket.

To my great surprise the landlords recently sent to me as well as my neighbour a short notice, that the rents of the premises are to be increased by $12. I can do nothing other than to voice my complaint against such injustice through your paper and leave it open to the criticism of the public.

ONE OF THE VICTIMS.

Lesson Sermon
First Church of Christ, Scientist.

Adam and fallen man:—Is the subject of the Lesson Sermon read in all Churches of Christ Scientist, throughout the world on Sunday, November 6. Golden Text:—John 3:31. "He that is of the earth is earthly, and speaketh of the earth: he that cometh from heaven is above all." Among the citations which comprise the Lesson Sermon is the following from The Bible:—"For they that are after the flesh do mind the things of the flesh: but they that are after the Spirit the things of the Spirit. For to be carnally minded is death: but to be spiritually minded is life and peace. Because the carnal mind is enmity against God: for it is not subject to the law of God, neither indeed can be" (Romans 8:5-7).

The Lesson Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy:—"In Science man is the offspring of Spirit. The beautiful, good, and pure constitute his ancestry. His origin is not, like that of mortals, in brute instinct, nor does he pass through material conditions prior to reaching intelligence. Spirit is his primitive and ultimate source of being; God is his Father, and life is the law of his being."

Sixty Years Ago

FROM THE "NORTH-CHINA DAILY NEWS" OF NOVEMBER 7, 1878

A contemporary says that if the secret history of the Berlin Congress is ever written, the springs which brought it about will be found to have been not of political, but of personal origin. The story will reveal how, at Lord Beaconsfield's instigation, the Queen wrote a private letter to Emperor William, pointing out, in pathetic language, the misery which a war would entail, not less on the great European reigning families than on their subjects. How, moved by this appeal, the Kaiser stirred to action his great, and previously supine, Minister, whose notorious view of the Eastern Question was that it was not worth the sound limbs of one Pomeranian soldier. How, also, the Imperial veteran wrote to his nephew of Russia, and to his nephew's son's wife; and so, finally, how the matter was got into diplomatic train.—The "Overland Mail."

Which Way Are We Going?

Sermon Preached in Holy Trinity Cathedral By Dean Trivett at Mattins on October 23

TEXT:—"There is a way that seemeth right unto man but the end thereof are the ways of death." Proverbs 16, 25.

THE correctness of this statement is generally recognized in the physical realm. Most of us can recall instances in our personal experience which prove that the mere fact that a man believes himself to be right does not necessarily show that he is. A man may trudge along the wrong road, fully persuaded that he has taken the right turning, and is in the right way, but all his strong persuasion does not alter the fact that he has gone astray, and that every step is taking him further from the destination where he would be. We have seen sick folk who could not believe the seriousness of their condition, who were firmly convinced that there was only a trifling disorder, and yet to the trained eye the fatal symptoms were only too apparent.

Many a man can look back and see how in business he had adopted a certain policy convinced that it would bring success; made certain associations quite satisfied that harmony would be the result, but the policy has been disastrous, and the association led to friction and bitterness.

Ways of Death

Yes, you will find that most people will readily admit that in the affairs of this life many ways that seem right unto men are in fact ways of death. But can this statement be made with the same degree of certainty in reference to those things which belong to the moral and spiritual realm? In matters of character and conduct, for instance, is it possible for a man to be utterly wrong, when he believes himself to be right? Is it possible for a man to be fairly satisfied with himself and his ways, and yet by every step to be drawing nearer to deep and irretrievable ruin? For although we speak in popular and poetic language of conscience as the voice of God, it is—in the last analysis—one of our own faculties; with greater accuracy we might consider it man's highest and noblest faculty, that to which the Law and the Gospel direct themselves. Like a mirror, it may reflect—and if kept pure and turned to God—give a perfect reflection of His will. But if abused and disregarded, if contaminated by association with evil, it becomes warped and distorted, and it can no longer be trusted.

We shall have discovered a fruitful source of error when we have come to realize that conscience is not an infallible guide. Conscience is given to be our guide, but the guide will mislead unless it be instructed and disciplined by light and teaching from above, unless it be instructed in regard to the nature of the journey and the path we must follow. Surely this is the teaching of the Bible? We have frequent illustrations there, both of weak consciences and consciences that are utterly unreliable and defiled. We discover there that the conscience in man may vary between an almost absolute and entire apostasy, and the most perfect illumination and wisdom.

Individual Conscience

Where was David's conscience between the time of his great sin, and the visit of Nathan the prophet? How do you explain the conscience of Saul of Tarsus when he verily thought within himself that he did God service by persecuting the Church of Christ? Individual conscience. Yes, and the corporate conscience of the community may lead very far astray indeed. It may be very far from reflecting the will of God. It may be absolutely and utterly wrong. Because our conscience does not reprove us when we do things it would have shouted against, ten, five, years ago, does not mean that the wrong has become right. Because we can jest at sacred things without a warning prod from conscience, or without hurting the sensibilities of our friends does not prove the jest to be blameless. Certain standards of Sunday observance, because the rule rather than the exception, are not therefore necessarily right.

I said we speak of conscience in popular and poetic language as the voice of God, and in one very real and terrible sense it is true. We may confess the true God, but the God whom we serve may be other than the God whom we confess, and the God we worship, speaks through our conscience. The man or woman who worships self has no reproving voice to call them back from cruel deeds of self-aggrandizement. The man whose God is a god of gold has no voice that bids him do deeds of generosity, and calls him to spend himself in the service of others. Conscience is a God-given faculty, designed and intended to tell us the will of the most high God, but alas in so many of us it has been turned to the service of false gods, and it can no longer be trusted.

Conscience Warped

When that which is false is assumed to be true, then the soul of man stands indeed in perilous places. "There is a way that seemeth right unto man, but the end thereof are the ways of death." Surely this should not be difficult to understand. We can understand how important it is that a mariner's compass should be perfectly accurate, for let there be ever so small an undetected error in a ship's compass every reckoning will be effected, and before long the ship will be far off the course. When that which is false is assumed to be true, the very accuracy with which we make our reckonings increases our error. That which is so obvious i the physical and material realm should not be unrealized in the realm of moral and spiritual things. If there is danger for the ship which is dependent upon a faulty compass, how much more serious is the plight of the man whose eternal soul depends upon the light of conscience which is darkened? We do well to realize that conscience can become darkened. It can become warped and twisted until it can no longer be depended upon,—until the wrong way appears the right, until like the Christian in the Pilgrim's Progress, the by-path seems to be going in the right direction, and only when it is too late, we find that it takes us not toward the Celestial City, but into the dungeon of Giant Despair.

Feel no Qualms

It is too sadly true that there are multitudes of men and women, some of us here this morning, who can sin and feel no qualms of conscience, who are satisfied that their lives are saddled with no very deadly sins; and yet their feet are setting not toward Heaven, but the pit. They are travelling the road which Lot chose so many years ago. It may seem a pleasant road at first, and conscience grows more acquiescent with each selfish choice, but remember how Lot's life went out in a "midnight of despair." Yes indeed, "There is a way which seemeth right unto man, and yet the end thereof are the ways of death."

Life can never be static, each choice that comes means a victory or a defeat. We either make progress or retreat. There can be no standing still in spiritual things. Either we are growing in grace and the knowledge of God, or every day of our lives we are slipping away, wandering—perhaps blindly—away into that far country from God, travelling the path which ends in eternal separation from God and Christlike things.

Which Way?

It is a serious thought.—Which way are we going? Where is the right way? How shall we be guided aright?—We answer, when the compass is not to be trusted, the mariner steers by the sun and the stars, eternally fixed and sure, and we may do the same. When conscience may not be trusted we have a chart in which the way is so clearly shown that, "the wayfaring man though a fool, shall not err therein." And we have a sun by which we may steer our course. If we go every day "looking unto Jesus," ever setting Him before us, "the Way, the Truth, and the Life," revealed in this Book, we need have no fear; we shall be in the right way, the way of life, and growing light and peace.

It may be discouraging at first; it may mean hardship and self-sacrifice. Our blessed Lord has warned us, that "Straight is the gate and narrow is the way that leadeth unto life." But it is the way of life and of increasing joy.

One last thought.—If we have been blundering along in the wrong way, if conscience has become deadened, and the light that should be in us has been darkness, the past can be blotted out and conscience again quickened. The forgiveness we asked for in our prayers this morning was fully and freely given through Jesus Christ our Lord. And He who is our Saviour from sin is our Guide in the new way. Not only he is the way and the truth, he is the life. He gives strength for the journey, and walks beside us every step of the way.

"There is a way that seemeth right unto man, but the end thereof are the ways of death." Against that we place another word, "I am the way, the truth and the life, no man cometh unto the Father but by me."

Prince's Bear Escapes

A Southampton stevedore opened a lorry door at the dockside on October 10 and found himself face to face with a small brown bear. He shut the door—quickly.

The bear had been caged in London and carried by road to the docks for shipment in the steamer Meonia to Bangkok on benalf of Prince Chula of Siam (cousin of Prince Bira, the racing motorist), who was married in London on September 30.

No one at Southampton dare tackle the problem of recaging the bear, so, with the doors locked tight, the lorry was sent back to London. Late at night the lorry arrived at the West End dealers where the bear was obtained.

As the man who had charge of the animals opened the door the bear rushed up to him, making joyful noises, put its paws on his shoulders and gave him a long embrace.

Then it followed him out like a child to another cage and settled down for the night.

WOMAN'S PAGE

A London Letter

BY OLIVE DUN

London, Oct. 16.

At the Ghillies' Ball at Balmoral this week the King and Queen danced the Lambeth Walk with their tenants and staff.

I don't know whether this epoch-making news will have reached you by cable but it has electrified England. The Royal seal of approval is set on a dance which began among the cockney costers and found its way upwards when Lupino Lane made it a feature of his colossal success "Me and My Girl" (which has already made a profit of £40,000) at the Victoria Palace. No one in the audience can resist it. They slap their thighs and shout "Oi" deliriously in time with the stage.

Next a West End dance hall director introduced it to his clients. It spread rapidly from London to the provinces. Young ladies in select seminaries are taught to dance it; only, as "Oi" is considered vulgar, they are told to shout "Ah." It has crossed the Channel, Frenchmen are amazed. Is this the renowned English phlegm? One French critic (they have their highbrows even in France) describes it as "a sort of childish jig, in which the couples clap their hands and utter crazy cries, no doubt to persuade themselves that they are very happy." But his countrymen cannot resist its charm.

America has fallen for it, though Eddie Cantor calls it a "freak," because it was not made in America. But that from our standpoint, and without offence, is its merit. Too long we have depended on transatlantic inventions, Big Apples, shimmies, Charlestons, negro wiggies and coal-black mammies. The Lambeth Walk is genuinely English, a spontaneous growth of London pavements, autochthonously rhythmical—I beg your pardon; this is not a treatise for the Encyclopædia, of course. But it is nice to think that we still have some real native art. The King and Queen have done a great deed in recognizing it.

A dinner ensemble by Molyneux has a tilleul-green tweed jacket, embroidered with flashing peacock-green jewels, set in silver. A Javanese necklace in similar embroidery finishes the molten-steel sheath. The toque is peacock-green felt; the aigrette and veil match.

A Great Frenchwoman

From one form of art to another, and there is nothing more perfectly native and original than the art of Mme Yvette Guilbert, who has been giving a recital in London. She has been so long a popular favourite that as far back as in 1882 she was caricatured by Toulouse Lautrec in her own caricature of "The English Meess." Yet, though well over 70, she does not depend on revivals of past success, but is continually finding out new modes, and she actually makes use of the inevitable deficiencies that age has brought to the upper notes of her voice in order to get new special effects. In this week's recital she began with a lecture on Paul Verlaine, reading from manuscript while seated at a table; it was a considerable time before she got up to sing. But the lecture presented pictures as vivid as a play.

It is all the way she uses her voice, which is, with the unrivalled artistic genius behind it, her only instrument. She stands almost motionless, now a queen of tragedy, now a miserable prisoner in gaol, now an impudent guttersnipe, all done by magical inflexions of the voice. It should do our modern actors and actresses a world of good to go to school with Mme Yvette Guilbert just to learn what the voice can be; which most of them have forgotten.

Autumn Musicians

But if few of our actresses know how to speak, it is at least consoling to see how many women musicians are figuring in the autumn's concerts, singers, pianists, a harpist, violinists and 'cellists. There is a string quartet, the Whinyates, all women, who have attained real distinction in this most exacting of all forms of music. Yet it is a saddening thought that except as singers (those "fearsome wildfowl" the prime donne) no woman musician has ever got to the front rank. Lady Hallé as violinist and Dame Ethel Smyth as composer have come nearest to it, I suppose. But it must be confessed that neither could be mentioned in the same breath with Joachim, Kreisler, Bach, Beethoven, Wagner. It would seem that Nature having constructed woman to perform one miracle greater than man ever approached was content to let her take second rank to him in other arts.

Not, however, in all things. At Bow Street this week one of the musical directors of the B.B.C., Mr. Hyam Greenbaum, was charged with stealing two books from second-hand bookshops in Charing Cross Road. He picked up a book in one shop, with a bundle of newspapers which he had put down, carried it off to another shop, left it there, and went off with another book. That he had a friend with him at the time, was fairly good presumptive evidence that he had not set out deliberately to steal. But much more convincing was the evidence of everyone who knew him, including all the big noises at the B.B.C., that he was the most absent-minded man in London. Only in music he is a whale. Last of the witnesses was his wife. "When he had a cheque book," she said, "he wrote cheques to everybody every day. He is so absent-minded that I collect his salary, manage all his money and make him a daily allowance. I have to see that he goes out wearing the right clothes and not wearing odd socks. Last winter I was really annoyed when he lost two overcoats and a mackintosh." That was the end of the prosecution and Mr. Greenbaum was led away by his wife, without a stain on his character, smiling amiably.

Reviving a Spa

It is interesting to see that a deliberate attempt is to be made to revive the glories of Bath. It is a lovely old city, perhaps the only one in England which shows evidence of hearing been intentionally and very finely planned. But for many years it has had the reputation of being (with parts of Cheltenham) the last resort of a brand of Early Victorian old ladies elsewhere extinct. The Abbey always gives one the impression of being full of pincushions and antimacassars. Next week, however, the Duchess of Kent will be present for a grand reopening of the Assembly Rooms. During the evening, the minuet will be danced by 40 couples dressed to represent great personages of the 18th century. Whether anyone now drinks the waters at Bath I don't know, though doctors have told me that at Bath, Leamington and Harrogate are mineral waters as beneficent as any to be found on the Continent, only in our mad English way we must always be running after foreign inventions. According to legend Bath waters were discovered by an early British King named Bladud, who was cured of his leprosy by bathing in them. Then came the Romans, remains of whose baths are still to be seen; and then Bean Nash. The rings in the walls of the baths to which 18th century bathers held, with floating trays before them carrying their handkerchiefs and snuff-boxes, are still there.

'Twas a glorious sight to behold the fair sex
A wading with gentlemen up to their necks, wrote a contemporary poet. But the mixed bathing of those days was decidedly voluminous in costume.

Women at Newmarket

The race for the Newmarket Town Plate, the only race for women riders, and dating, I believe, from the time of Charles II (if my memory is wrong, he was certainly the right man to found such a race, brought out 12 entries. It was won by Mrs. Langley, daughter of a Newmarket trainer and wife of a sporting journalist, on Lucky Patch, which started at evens, thus breaking the rule that the favourite never wins. To see the race women had gathered in crowds and weather-resisting clothes. The Duchess of Norfolk stood on the top of the ducal car in the usual tweed checks and beret. Not a few women wore trousers, heavy check overcoats and a large scarf over the head like an Oldham mill-girl. A concession to fashion was the conical hat with curly brim, like those of the Regency bucks. It looks well at a wintry race-meeting, though it is not everybody's hat.

The London fur shops are very alluring now, particularly the short coats and the new capes designed for evening wear. Canadian sable is much displayed, expensive of course, say 250 guineas for a coat; but Russian sable is practically unobtainable. If the Bolsheviks have nothing else to their credit their strict protection of the sable which was threatened with extinction may count. But the lovely silver fox is going out of favour. Since everyone took to running fox farms, it has become cheap. "I love food when it is expensive," says Mrs. Tanqueray. Conversely when caviar beigns to appeal to the general, the quality take to herrings.

A full length mink coat for evening wear is one of Miss Joan Bennett's treasures. The jewelled gold belt is a new note.

Lace is coming into favour again and many women have pieces or valuable lengths of it put away, some of which may have become discoloured. To wash it in perfect safety put it into a jam-jar filled with luke-warm suds, put the jar in a pan of water with the lid on, and boil for a couple of hours. Take out, rinse in several waters, and press in a thick Turkish towel to get the moisture out. When nearly dry press it with a warm iron over a thick cushion or pad to raise the design, or stretch over a cushion and fasten with rustless pins to dry.

Personality Can Be Acquired

Sense of Humour Is All-important

Popular opinion has always held that personality was a rare and indefinable quality which one acquired or unfortunately failed to acquire at birth. It was supposed to be a spontaneous charm, a vital magnetic quality which disarmed the most aggressive of people, captivated the least susceptible, shamed the shameless, and melted antipathy as a flame melts snow.

But psychologists who have relentlessly pursued and applied acid analysis to the elements of human character are quite certain that personality is definable. They say quite definitely that personality can be acquired. People who fail to develop a personality that claims attention have failed to realize that this quality is something one builds up rather than finds within one's self.

An interesting analysis of personality is given by Miss E. Bothwell, a Sydney psychologist, who said that personality was an expression of the qualities of charm, common sense, sense of humour, and adaptability. But she amplified this considerably.

Good Points

"A woman with personality," she said, "is a good mixer, capable of easy contact, and able readily to understand and sympathize with the ideas and interests of others. She has a variety of interests which facilitate conversational approach, such as sports, hobbies, reading, debating, organizing, theatre, music, and art.

"The higher values of personality," Miss Bothwell continued, "are evolved from experience. The woman with personality has two kinds of power: the art of living, and that of favourably impressing her personality on other people. She is aware of the appeal of originality, initiative, and resourcefulness, faces up to situations, and out of every experience adds something to her personality."

Charm, which is one of the important elements of personality, is expressed in the face and voice. It is the capacity to "dramatize" expression by intonation of voice, curve of lip, and sparkling eyes. Miss Bothwell said that if a person she was interviewing conveyed what she had to say with facial movement and suggestive intonation of voice she would say that she was charming. No woman who lacked charm, and yet had all the other elements of personality, could be said to have a good personality.

Sense of Humour

"One of the most dynamic attributes of personality," Miss Bothwell continued, "is a sense of humour. Nature intended humour as an antidote to the woes and worries of mankind. In olden days this was recognized by the employment of a jester, who was given complete licence to supply this one element of social life. Personality had often been described as magnetic and electric because of its vital influence and effect on others. Humour is the underlying dynamic principle.

"The ability to laugh at one's self is one of the principles on which personality can be cultivated. When people take themselves too seriously they are likely to develop a resentment and bitterness which is essentially an anti-social quality."

Acquiring Personality

Dr. H. L. Link, a famous American psychologist, in explaining how personality could be acquired, said that it could be defined as "the ability to interest and influence other people," and that a good mind and character were severely handicapped unless coupled with an effective personality. This ability to influence other people is made up of habits and skill acquired by practice. An awkward boy who, by persistent effort, learned to play a good game of tennis had acquired thereby one set of personality habits which enabled him to influence and interest other boys. Neither tennis nor any game is necessary to a good personality, but a range of varied skills is. A test tried out on 2,000 children had indicated what habits were important in this respect. Among the habits found to be most important were all games and sports which children learned to play in groups.

Be Sociable

The full use of one's physical energies during the day seemed to be one of the basic factors of a good personality. Children who read a good deal at the expense of active association with other people tended to have a lower personality quotient. The habits of remembering and repeating good stories, of introducing people to one another, of going around with a group of friends rather than one, of paying compliments to people, of refraining from so-called frank criticism of other people, of trying to meet people, of serving on committees all contributed to personality.

Children with a low personality quotient were usually the children for whom too much had been done and who were not forced to do things themselves.

So you can't take your eyes off my hat? . . . I wonder if I did knock it when I came into the bus . . . Now I come to think of it, I believe I did . . . Or perhaps I've got bits coming down at the back . . .

You think high hair funny? Well, I like it and everybody says it suits me. . . . And if you knew anything about it you'd be envious, for it's chic, poised, coquettish and quite the last word. . . .

I wonder if it's very crooked? You've got a beastly look of superior amusement. No, I'm not a filmstar, but I don't like to ooze humdrum housewife. . . .

I wish I could see myself. . . . If you'd only get out I could have a look at myself in the mirror out of my bag. . . .

You wouldn't think it so funny if you could see the ladder starting on your instep as I can. . . .

Mme Popoff said it wasn't extreme at all, and I'm sure it isn't. My hair couldn't come down with that band across; it's a physical impossibility. . .

Perhaps it would have been wiser not to have worn it home. . . . I'll fix my eye on that ladder. . . . It's a dream of a hat, but the only thing that worries me is if I knocked it very crooked or too straight. . . .

So you're getting out here? Well, my good woman, you've spoilt this hat for me. . . . Good-bye.

Now at least I can have a look at myself. . . . Heavens! There's a huge smut on my nose. . . .

Baby Stages

At six weeks old he turns his head to look at things, or in response to a noise.

About a week after this he may greet you with a smile, or hold his hands out for an object.

When he is five months old he will try to sit up and begin to put things in his mouth.

At six months he will be twice his weight at birth, and will be beginning to have some idea of distance in reaching for things.

When the end of the eighth month arrives he will understand all about making a noise.

His feet will make their first steps when they touch the floor during the ninth month, and he will try to manipulate a spoon and saucer.

At this time, also, he will be ready to take part in very simple games like peep-bo.

During the next two months he will creep, stand and walk in orderly succession.

From the end of the first year, sounds intelligible only to his mother will be slowly replaced by the words used by the rest of us.

For Ginger Lovers

Grasmere Gingerbread

Many visitors to Grasmere and the district have tasted the delicious Westmorland gingerbread, which seems a happy cross between parkin and shortbread. This recipe came from a Lakeland cottage. It is simple to make and keeps for weeks in an airtight tin.

With 1lb of flour mix 1 teaspoonful of carbonate of soda and 1 teaspoonful of cream of tartar. Cream together ½lb of brown Barbadoes or moist sugar and ½lb of butter, add to it 1 tablespoonful of golden syrup.

Add 1 dessertspoonful of ground ginger to the flour, a pinch of salt and a little finely-chopped candied peel. Mix the flour into the creamed butter and sugar. It will be dry and crumbly, but do not add any liquid.

Put the gingerbread in a well-greased tin until it is about 1½in deep. Press lightly with the back of a spoon.

Cook in a slow oven for 1 hour. The gingerbread will be crumbly on top but firm and shaped below.

Turn on to a wire tray, allow to cool, for 15 minutes, then cut into lengths. Do not allow it to go cold before cutting or it will be too hard.

Belgian Sugar Biscuits

This biscuit dough will keep for two or three days. It is then sliced, the mixture being too rich to be rolled and floured in the ordinary way.

Ingredients: 6 oz. flour, 5 oz. sugar (castor or Barbadoes), 3 oz. butter, 1 heaped teaspoonful of ground ginger, 1 yolk of egg.

Cream the butter and sugar; add the flour well sifted with the ginger and knead together thoroughly, putting in the egg yolk last. Shape into a large sausage as wide as a cup and leave in a cool place for a day or so. Cut in thin slices with a sharp knife and bake in a moderate oven till lightly coloured. Time required for baking is about 20 minutes.

Don't neglect it!

BEWARE of kidney trouble! Chronic backache, bladder weakness, rheumatism, sciatica, lumbago and renal dropsy frequently result from neglect. Weeks of needless pain and discomfort can be avoided by prompt treatment of the early symptoms of kidney weakness.

Self-examination

1. Do you wake up in the morning with a bad back?
2. Are your eyelids puffy? Are there dark swellings under your eyes? Are the ankles and hands swollen?
3. Is the urine cloudy, gravelly or scalding?
4. Do sharp pains make you afraid to stoop or straighten yourself afterwards?
5. Do you suffer from headaches, depression and dizzy attacks?
6. Are your limbs shaky and rheumatic, especially in damp weather?

If you have any of these symptoms start taking Doan's Backache Kidney Pills straight away. This special kidney tonic can help you as surely as it has helped so many thousands of others.

IMPARTIAL NOT NEUTRAL

THE NEW CHALLENGE

The attitude of Japanese opinion towards the suggested reconvocation of the nine Power Conference concerning the Sino-Japanese conflict is consistent with the action of the Japanese Government in refusing to join the conference which was held approximately twelve months ago, while the various official pronouncements which have recently been made suggest that Japan is preparing to denounce the Pact in view of the change in circumstances which has been brought about by her invasion of China. The Nine-Power Pact was concluded as long ago as February 6, 1922, at Washington, and at the risk of boring those who are familiar with its principal terms, they are reproduced for the advantage of those who are not. Article I states:—

The Constracting Powers other than China agree:

(1) To respect the sovereignty, the independence, and the territorial and administrative integrity of China;

(2) To provide the fullest and most unembarrassed opportunity to China to develop and maintain for herself an effective and stable Government;

(3) To use their influence for the purpose of effectually establishing and maintaining the principle of equal opportunity for the commerce and industry of all nations throughout the territory of China;

(4) To refrain from taking advantage of conditions in China in order to seek special rights or privileges which would abridge the rights of subjects or citizens of friendly States, and from countenancing action inimical to the security of such States.

Roughly speaking the rest of the document serves to elaborate the means by which the above principles shall be carried into effect. The document served to wipe out abuses of the past, to give China an opportunity of working out her own destiny, and to preserve for the nations trading within her borders that equality of opportunity which alone can come from the complete absence of discrimination. The Pact was hailed at the time as a most promising document for China and a general guarantee that the nation would be left free from that type of interference which had marked history since the advent of the foreigner into this country.

It is now freely rumoured that the Japanese Government is contemplating denouncing that Pact preparatory to the establishment of a complete hegemony over this part of Eastern Asia in accordance with the mooted doctrine of Asia for the Asiatics, and on the face of recent developments the scheme appears to bear all the earmarks of long planning. We are, however, concerned for the moment only with what has happened during the past few months. The refusal of the Japanese to attend the Brussels Conference was in complete disregard of Article VI of the Pact:—

> The Contracting Powers agree that, whenever a situation arises which in the opinion of any one of them involves the application of the stipulations of the present Treaty, and renders desirable discussion of such application, there shall be full and frank communication between the Contracting Powers concerned.

The first breach of the Nine Power Pact, therefore, was when Japan refused to have anything to do with the Brussels Conference contending that her action in China was something concerning herself and that country alone. It served sufficient warning that the Pact itself was in peril. The strong United States Note delivered to the Japanese Government on October 6, of this year protesting against the infringement of American rights in China has up to the present received no answer. It was in all probability delayed until the Japanese forces had procured the fall of Canton and Hankow, the most important proof of military achievement. That reply has been delayed since then while various pronouncements have been made, which, if they were carried out in their entirety, would undoubtedly mean the complete elimination of the interests of Third Party Powers in China. They may be accepted for the time being as ballons d'essai for the purpose of endeavouring to ascertain possible reaction abroad in the event of such threats being transformed into deeds, but it must be apparent to all observers that the Japanese intention, no matter how definitely it has, or has not been enunciated in official terms, covers the establishment of an economic, political and possibly eventually military bloc of this portion of the Far East, with Japan in the dominant position.

It must be a matter of speculation for some time to come as to what will be the reaction of those Powers signatory to the Pact whose interests are most nearly threatened by any such action. They are Great Britain, France, Holland and the United States. The expression of a wish, no matter how earnest it may be, is no promise of its ultimate fulfilment, and the Powers whose interests would be most severely threatened by any such development are by no means powerless to meet it. Much must naturally depend upon the degree of unanimity which may be arrived at between them, for it is clear that if they were all resolutely combined to resist any such development Japan is not strong enough to effect it. The American Note of October 6, was admirable in its tone, indicating a strength which has not yet been duplicated by other nations involved in similar matters as those which the communication covered. It gives those others a very clear lead, which if they do not follow may bring about just such another débâcle as did the failure to follow the American lead over the Manchurian Incident. Whether the nations concerned determine upon co-operative or parallel action does not really matter, so long as what they all do is properly timed and emphatically backed. The grave threat which is being offered to their interests in China verges upon those limits of patience, trespass beyond which not even the most forbearing of nations can afford to countenance. The swinging of the focus of international irritation between Europe and Asia must eventually be stopped, and if Japan does proceed to the lengths which rumour, and the deductions to be made from recent pronouncements would appear to indicate, then the sooner a stop is put to it the better. The argument that circumstances in China would justify the action Japan is reported to contemplate is worthless. Those circumstances if they exist anywhere except in the facile brains of the Tokyo Government have been brought about by the wrongful action of Japan taken in complete breach of solemn treaty obligation, and of those fine ideals of justice which Japan is now so earnestly and so strangely invoking.

Some New Demands

The demonstrations in Rome on Friday last when popular demand was voiced for the return of Tunis, Nice and Savoy, will if it is insisted upon bring up new questions between Italy and France at a time when it was hoped it could be possible to bring about a betterment of relations. It was after 1862 that the Kingdom of Italy commenced to take a deep interest in the future of Tunis, and, when the country went bankrupt, control over Tunisian finances was established by British, a French and Italian controllers. In 1880 the Italians bought the British railway from Tunis to Goletta, this with other circumstances leading the French to cross the Algerian frontier and compelling the bey to accept a protectorate, which was recognized by the British in 1883. Others followed suit with the exception of Italy which did not recognize the full consequences of the French protectorate until 1896, and today Tunis is pointed to by some authorities as the best and wisest example of French administration over an alien land and race. Savoy was annexed to France under Napoleon III, when it and Nice were taken, in 1860 as a counterbalance to the increase of the new Italian Kingdom. The history of Nice is particularly interesting. It is stated to have been founded about two thousand years ago by the Phocæans of Marseilles, and in 1388, after some centuries of independence placed itself under the counts of Savoy, who in turn lost it, until 1696 when it was restored to them. The French besieged the place in 1705 and the following year destroyed the citadel and ramparts, but in 1713 it was again restored to Savoy. From 1744 to 1748 it was in French and Spanish occupation, passing eventually to the Sardinian King who lost it to the French in 1792. Twenty-two years later it again reverted to Sardinia, but in 1860 as the result of a treaty between the King of Sardinia and Napoleon III the city again went back to France the cession being ratified by 25,000 electors out of 30,700, an early example of the use of the plebiscite.

Beleaguered Madrid

Yesterday at dawn Madrid entered into its third year of siege, and if the resistance of the past two years is maintained it will pass another cheerless and desperate winter. The failure to capture the Spanish capital early in General Franco's campaign is probably the real reason for the prolonged fighting in the rest of the country, for it is believed that if the large number of troops which are still battling for the capture of Madrid could be liberated to serve on other fronts the effective opposition of the Republicans would by now have been crushed. But a slight mistake following the fall of Toledo on October 27, 1936, is responsible. Upon the fall of that city it was believed that the successful insurgents would march straight upon the capital, and indeed during eleven exciting days they managed to reach the Rio Manzanarez where they arrived early on the morning of November 7. Instead of storming across the bridge into the city, the rebels decided to await their artillery, and when that had eventually arrived the Government commander, General Miaja had taken the opportunity to consolidate his defences since when the rebels have never been able to break through. During the two years of beleaguerment Madrid has sustained severe damage from air bombing and artillery shelling, and the wonder is that the morale of the people has been so well sustained under the punishment they have been receiving. It justifies the belief that the aeroplane is not the efficient weapon in this respect that many enthusiasts would have the world believe, for as Madrid has shown, it has been demonstrated in China that, after the first momentary dismay has passed, people settle down to a strange acceptance of the situation, and while of course many do flee to greater safety, the large numbers which remain and face daily danger give a striking display of the quality of human fortitude.

A Country Diary

November 5.—I often think that the acid test of a good observer is to hear a sound at dead of night and be able to deduce from such "blind" evidence, not only the identity of the creature making the sound, but the reason why the sound was made. I am not thinking of the hoot of the Owl, the croak of the frog, or the "Kraak" of a passing Night Heron: I am trying to conjure up in the imagination such tiny little sounds as the squeak of a mouse, the twitter of a Sparrow, the chirp of an insect, or any similar small noise which would never be heard in the din of the day, but which strikes the ear like a bugle note in the eerie hours of darkness. Among all such sounds there is one which stands out very clearly in my memory....the excited shriek of a Cicada so often heard on sleepless summer nights....a sort of muffled scream that starts in a high pitch and quickly fades away; I have tried to fit in the facts to many possible explanations, but the true one has only just come to my notice. The Cicada sleeping peacefully on a branch high up in a tree has an enemy unknown to most of us: it is a grasshopper which can climb the tree by leaps and bounds, to spring upon its prey during the night hours....tearing out the stomach of the night-blinded singer and devouring the contents. A sudden "Zizz" in the stillness of the night—when Cicadas and grasshoppers alike are supposed to be silent....merely means that a Cicada has met a sudden death and a large green grasshopper has had a good meal. It reminds one of Macbeth saying (after boasting that he was proof against all "night-shrieks")—"Wherefore was that cry?". Even the toughest among us can be thrilled by an unexpected cry in the night.

Dress in Your Rhythm

"DRESS according to your rhythm."—This is the latest fashion decree in New York.—News Item.

Such dress as accords with your rhythm
Is favoured by New York's decree:
The clothes and the girls who go with'm
Are easy, say experts, to see:
For Lola, so Spanish and slinky,
Has rhythm of the ra-ta-ta kind—
But Mary, no: she: she's ever so
Refined.

So choose between colours exotic,
With tango-ish lines from the hip,
And something restrained and hypnotic
If ra-ta-ta gives you the pip:
The ego, the soul, of each girlie
Must show in her rhythmic allure—
Look! Here's Sadie, business lady,
Svelte and sure.

Advertising Pays

A HEN is not supposed to have
Much common sense or tact,
Yet every time she lays an egg,
She cackles forth the fact.

A rooster hasn't got a lot
Of intellect to show,
But none the less most roosters have Enough good sense to crow.

The mule, the most despised of beasts,
Has a persistent way
Of letting folks know he's around
By his insistent bray.

The busy little bees, they buzz,
Bulls bellow and cows moo,
The watchdogs bark, the ganders quack,
And doves and pigeons coo.

The peacock spreads his tail and squawks,
Pigs squeal and robins sing,
And even serpents know enough
To hiss before they sting.

But man, the greatest masterpiece
That nature could devise,
Will often stop and hesitate
Before he'll advertise.

Six Britons Injured In Cafe Bombing

Chinese Throws Bottle Grenade in Bubbling Well Road Bar: Seaforths, Marines and Two Chinese Girls Taken to Hospital

THREE members of the 1st Battalion, the Seaforth Highlanders, three privates of the Royal Marine detachment aboard H.M.S. Birmingham and two Chinese girls were injured last night when a bomb was thrown through the doorway of Ma Jackson's tavern at 292 Bubbling Well Road. All the injured persons were removed to hospital and enquiries by the "North-China Daily News" at midnight elicited the information that they were in no danger. Several sailors from H.M.S. Birmingham and other members of the Seaforth Highlanders, who were in the tavern at the time, suffered slight injuries from flying glass but their condition did not warrant their removal to hospital.

The names of the injured persons are: Ptes. Sutherland, Ritchie, and Duffy of the Seaforths, Ptes. Newman, Pitt, and Ray of the Royal Marines. The first four are now detained at the British Military Hospital in Central Road, while Pitt and Ray are being treated at the General Hospital. The two girls were taken to the Red Cross Hospital.

Thrown Through Door

From eye-witness accounts of the bombing given to a "North-China Daily News" reporter, it appears that about 7.30 p.m. the door of the tavern was thrown open suddenly, a Chinese appeared on the threshold and threw something with great force into the room. Immediately there was a loud explosion as the object burst near the window and broken glass flew in all directions, injuring some soldiers and Royal Marines who were sitting directly facing the window.

In the general alarm which followed the explosion, the thrower dashed away and although he was chased by a member of the Seaforth Highlanders and a few pedestrians on the street at the time he managed to escape. Meanwhile, inside the tavern the injured people were picking themselves up from the floor where they had been hurled by the force of the detonation. Ambulances were immediately summoned and they were removed to the hospital. Pitt and Ray, who is the youngest Marine aboard the Birmingham, appeared to have suffered most and a taxi was summoned so that they could receive immediate treatment at the General Hospital.

Glass Bomb

An R.A.S.C. ambulance conveyed the other four men to the Military Hospital where they were treated by Capt. Smyth. Their wounds were stated to be superficial although each of them had lost an amount of blood. They were in no danger, however, when a "North-China Daily News" reporter visited there shortly before midnight.

All the injuries were caused by flying glass from the exploding missile which was found to be a home-made grenade fashioned out of a bottle, being an exact replica of the two bombs which were thrown in the Frisco and New Deal cabarets recently on Rue Chu Pao San. Detectives from Sinza Police station arrived on the scene shortly after the bombing and were conducting enquiries for over two hours, during which time most of the debris near the window, which had been boarded up, and had been cleared away.

No Clues

At a late hour last night, no clue as to the motive for the hurling of the missile had been unearthed and so far it remains a mystery. Military Police co-operated with the detectives as enquiries proceeded and a Shore Patrol from H.M.S. Birmingham also arrived on the scene, as the establishment was closed by order of detectives. At 9 p.m. last night a Chinese police constable stood on guard in the doorway, but it is understood that customers were allowed to enter after the departure of the detectives.

A member of the Seaforth Highlanders who was in the tavern at the time of the bombing told a "North-China Daily News" reporter that "it all happened in a flash. I saw this fellow open the door," he added "and suddenly he heaved a bottle into the room near the bar and there was a loud explosion. The girls behind the counter screamed and flying glass was everywhere."

Gave Chase

This witness continued that he ran towards the door and saw the man running across the road, when he gave chase, but owing to traffic and some pedestrians getting in the way he lost sight of him. "I went back to the tavern to see what had happened to my mates" he went on "and I found them lying about the place bleeding freely, but there was no panic."

A sailor from H.M.S. Birmingham who was at the other end of the bar when the grenade was thrown stated that it all hapened so suddenly that everyone was dazed for some time. "There was a blast of hot air, the room filled with smoke, and glass and fragments from the counter flew about," he informed the reporter. "I immediately ducked as someone shouted 'bomb' but even then my fingers were cut with glass."

No Danger

From enquiries made at the General and Military hospitals it was found that the injuries to Pitt and Ray included lacerations to the body and legs, and injuries to the chest and abdomen, which will necessitate their detention in hospital. Sutherland, Ritchie, Duffy and Newman were stated to have suffered from wounds to the body and legs, the first-named being the most seriously injured of the party. No statements were taken from the men last night. The two girls' injuries were superficial and they are expected to be released immediately.

Reports that Sutherland and the two Marines at the General Hospital were in dangerous conditions proved to be false and it was stated by medical authorities that they are in no danger.

Japanese Advance On Changsha

Tsungyang Taken Cutting Outer Defences of City: Rapid Pace Set

With Japanese forces on south Yangtze front, Nov. 6.

Japanese forces today breached the outer defences of Changsha, capital of Hunan province, as Tsungyang, pivotal point on the military road extending south from Wuchang parallel to the Canton-Hankow Railway, was occupied at 12.30 o'clock this afternoon.

Southeast of Puchi on the railway, Tsungyang was the centre of Chinese military supplies during the battle for Hankow. It was here that Gen. Chen Cheng, chief of staff of the Kuomintang armies, directed the defence of Wuhan. Following the fall of Hankow, a defence line extending east from Yochow at the mouth of Tungting Lake to Tungshan, in the hills south of Wuchang, was established by the Chinese passing through Tsungyang.

In a lightning advance that brought them 60 kilometres from Sienning, from where they started on October 31, the Japanese forces appeared off Tsungyang today. Effecting a crossing of the Chun River under heavy Chinese fire, they poured into Tsungyang shortly after noon. Before abandoning the city, the Chinese set fire to the vast amount of supplies still left in Tsungyang.

20 Divisions Hold City

The spectacular Japanese progress from Sienning was noteworthy not only for its rapidity in the face of forbidding mountainous terrain, but also because of the success achieved in virtually annihilating the 75th Chinese Army beween Nanlinkiao and Painikiao.

Japanese military officers attached importance to the capture of Tsungyang because of its effect upon the defence of Changsha for which 20 divisions of Hunanese troops under Gen. Chang Fa-kwei, erstwhile commander of the "Ironsides" Division, have been detailed.

Japanese troops later in the day were in hot pursuit of the Chinese troops retreating from Tsungyang to the southwest. By nightfall, the Japanese vanguards were eight kilometres south of the captured city.

Meantime, another Japanese column operating farther west today neared the Hunan-Hupeh border as it prepared to attack Chinese positions at Yanglussu, railway station town on the provincial frontier. Yesterday, this column had advanced 26 kilometres from Puchi to reach Fengshuling peak, 12 kilometres from the Wanyangshan range forming a natural border between the two provinces.—Domei.

Austin Works Erect Air Raid Shelter

Staff and Plant Protected In Case of Attack

London, Nov. 6.

Air raid precautions accommodation for its staff of 22,000 persons, including a bomb-proof shelter at the centre for essential control services, a blast-proof concrete shelter for 4,000 women members of the staff, and an extensive trench system to shelter male workers, is being completed by the Austin Company at their Longbridge factory, near Birmingham, at a cost of £20,000.

In case of an air raid, only one man would be left in the factory in charge of the boiler house, while from two splinter-proof observation posts on high ground occupants would report by internal telephone to firefighting, decontamination and rescue squads and first aid services housed in underground shelters.—Wireless through Reuter.

Violent Fighting on Ebro Front

Nationalists Threaten Key Village

Saragossa, Nov. 6.

Violent fighting is in progress round the key village of Mora de Ebro, the capture of which will mean the loss to the Republicans of their permanent bridges and the main road along which all their supplies to the Ebro pocket have been coming.

Tanks, planes and artillery are co-operating with Nationalist infantry, while Republicans are resisting with determination.

The Government forces are hastily improvising trenches and redoubts, transferring fresh units to more gravely menaced spots, and using dynamite in many places to embarrass the advance of the Nationalists.—Reuter.

Britain's Bid For Distance Flight Record

3 Machines Pass Malaya En Route to Australia

Singapore, Nov. 6.

All three Royal Air Force non-stop aeroplanes passed Malaya within a short time of one another this evening. They left Ismailia, Egypt, at dawn yesterday. It is expected that the leading 'plane will reach Darwin, Australia, by 2.30 a.m. G.M.T. (10.30 a.m. Shanghai Time), setting a new long distance record.—Reuter.

Doing 148-160 Miles an Hour

London, Nov. 6.

The three Royal Air Force non-stop aeroplanes signalled the Air Ministry about midnight G.M.T. (8 a.m., Shanghai time) that they were near the East Coast of India, on their flight from Ismailia, Egypt, to Australia. The leading flyers at 8.30 a.m., Shanghai time, were 3,340 miles from the take-off.

Machine No. 1 reported at that hour that it had reached a point on the East Coast of India near Vizagapatam, and was travelling at 160 miles per hour. The second Vickers Wellesley aircraft had radioed at 7.45 a.m., Shanghai time, that its position was 30 miles west of Yamaon on the coast, and it was flying at a speed of 155 m.p.h.

Occupants of 'plane No. 3 signalled at 8.10 a.m., Shanghai time, that they were 40 miles west of Yamaon, and travelling at 148 miles per hour.

The three planes are under the leadership of Squadron-Leader R. Kellett.

A fourth machine, which flew with the others to Ismailia from Cranwell on July 7, covering the distance of about 4,300 miles in about 32 hours, is following the other three by easy stages, carrying Wing-Commander O. R. Gayford, who has been in charge of the unit since its formation in January and is himself a former holder of the long-distance air record.

Attempt on World Record

The present world record is 6,306 miles. If, as it is hoped, one or more of the machines reaches Port Darwin, a non-stop distance of 7,162 statute miles on the great circle will have been flown and a new world record will have been created.

The plans provide for the aircraft to fly in loose formation or independently, at the discretion of the leader. The planes are standard Vickers Wellesleys as supplied to the Royal Air Force and modified for long-range development work. They have an all-up weight, fully loaded, of about 19,000 lb. compared with 11,000 lb. for the standard service type. They are fitted with automatic flying control.

Three British warships, the Deptford, Investigator and Swan, stationed in the Arabian Sea, the Bay of Bengal and the Timor Sea, will act as an operational link in the chain of communications.—Reuter.

Over South China Sea

London, Nov. 6.

No. 3 'plane of the R.A.F. long distance trio reported to the Air Ministry at noon G.M.T. (8 p.m. Shanghai time) that she was over the South China Sea about 5,060 miles from Ismailia.—Reuter.

Polish Population Goes to Polls

Campaign Concludes for Legislative Elections

Warsaw, Nov. 5.

Several processions, meetings and speeches brought to a close this evening electoral campaigns prior to tomorrow's legislative elections.

More than 17,000,000 people, about half the country's total population, will take part in the ballotting, which is being held to elect 208 Deputies who will form the tenth Polish Diet. The success of the Governmental "National Union" group is assured because its candidates were designated by pro-governmental electoral commissions.

It is remarked that among the 440 candidates vying for success there is not one German. Only a few candidates are independent or belong to the Opposition.—Havas.

Atlantic Air Route Blocked

German Newspaper's Charge Against U.S.

Berlin, Nov. 5.

The newspaper "Essener National Zeitung," which is close to Air Marshal Hermann Goering, today charged the United States with intentionally blocking trans-Atlantic air traffic.

The newspaper said the United States refused to grant the necessary concessions and licenses because of a "desire to participate themselves in the first North Atlantic Air Line." American companies are not yet ready to participate in such a venture, the newspaper asserted.—United Press.

Portuguese Dockyards To Be Reorganized

British Rear-Admiral to Undertake Task

SPECIAL TO THE "N.C.D.N."

British and U.S. Push Efforts For Larger Air Strength

Increased Home Air Force of 4,000-5,000 Machines In Britain; U.S. Aims at 7,000-10,000

SPECIAL TO THE "N.C.D.N."

London, Nov. 6.

THE British Government is expected to announce this week its intention to increase the first-line strength of the Home air force from 2,750 machines to between 4,000 and 5,000, states the air correspondent of the "Sunday Times." The decision, the correspondent asserts, will involve an expansion of the aircraft industry to a point at which it is capable of producing between 35,000 and 40,000 machines a year. Before the end of the month the rate of production will be increased by about fifty per cent., and it will continue to increase until 1940, when the full war potential will be reached.

In addition, Great Britain's defences will be strengthened by two first full-sized British battleship designed since the Great War.

Each of 35,000 tons, these vessels will carry ten 14-inch guns and will be capable of a speed of over 30 knots. They will be launched early in the new year.—Reuter.

Washington, Nov. 6.

President Roosevelt definitely intends to ask Congress to authorize one of the world's mightiest air fleets for the United States Army, numbering between 7,000 and 10,000 aircraft, it is learned in Administration circles.

The President's far-going plans to strengthen the nation's defence include full equipment, as quickly as possible, for the nucleus of an army at least 400,000 strong, according to authoritative reports. It is estimated that the programme involves an outlay for 1939, excluding this year's military appropriations, totalling well over $300,000,000.

The plan is also understood to provide for the acquisition of war reserves for a force of 1,000,000 men able to take the field within a few months in the event of war.

A separate emergency budget is a device President Roosevelt is reported to be considering for the speedy adoption of his new rearmament programme.

Four Points of Plan

Details of the programme are still confidential, but well-informed circles believe that the President will make his recommendations to Congress early in the new year on a plan containing the following four points:

1. Increasing the Army Corps' present goal of 2,320 first-line fighters by mass production over a period of several years.
2. As regards the Army, immediate equipping of an "initial protective force" of about 400,000 men with essential semi-automatic rifles, anti-aircraft guns, bombs, and tanks.
3. Hastening the acquisition of war reserves for a force of a million men.
4. Preparation by industry to shift quickly and effectively in an emergency from peace-time production to a mass output of planes and munitions.—Reuter.

Ordnance Plan to Be Reopened

Washington, Nov. 6.

President Roosevelt's announcement that the Government plans to reopen the ordnance plant at South Charleston, W.Va., and the navy yard at Algiers, Louisiana, today emphasized the Administrations efforts to start immediate operation of the naval expansion programme.

Officials of the Navy and War Offices, however, declined to reveal details of the plans. It is admitted, however, that navy authorities have been studying plans to reopen the Algiers ship yard for many weeks. It is believed the yard will produce small craft such as destroyers and auxiliaries.

President Roosevelt said that if the ordnance plant is reopened, it would be for a secret purpose. However, it is known that ordnance experts believe that American commercial facilities are inadequate in the event of any emergency, so it is believed that the plant will be entirely used for the manufacture of ordnance.

The U.S.$4,500,000 navy yard at Algiers will be used to help fulfill the U.S.$1,156,456,000 naval construction programme authorized by Congress at its last session. The bill authorized construction of 46 fighting vessels and 26 auxiliary fleet units, and both private and navy yards are expected to be taxed to the limit to fulfill the programme.—United Press.

U.S. Ready to Defend Western Hemisphere

Lima Parley Significance Stressed by Mr. Welles

Washington, Nov. 6.

Mr. Sumner Welles, Under-Secretary of State, in a radio broadcast tonight, warned the world that the United States has assured itself it will be in a position to defend the western hemisphere against aggression, "from whatever source it may arise."

The United States is prepared to cooperate with American republics in "preserving the hemisphere safe from any threat of attack," he declared.

During the speech, Mr. Welles discussed the significance of the Lima Conference, to be convoked this December. "The world situation necessitates as never before that there does not exist between American republics any shadow of misunderstanding or suspicion as to their common relations," he declared.

The statement was believed pointed at Peru and Ecuador, the latter nation having indicated it may not attend the conference because of its recurring dispute with Peru over their borders.—United Press.

Madrid Enters Third Year of Siege With Defences Still Intact

Combatants Settle Down to Cat-and-Mouse Tactics; No Change Within the Past Year

Hendaye, Nov. 6.

The second year of the siege of Madrid ends tonight and at dawn the former Spanish capital will start the third year of its investiture which in loss of human lives and property surpasses all sieges of modern times with the exception of Verdun during the Great War.

It was two years ago tonight that the Caballero government fled from Madrid and the Foreign Legion, the Moors, the Requetes and the Falangists of Generalissimo Francisco Franco arrived at the Manzanarez river and began the siege of a stubbornly resistent city.

In those two years, with a whole army at its gates, Madrid has successfully resisted air and artillery attack. Official Spanish records show that in two years upwards of 18,000 shells have fallen on the unhappy city, and their fall has been charted by the municipal authorities. Madrid is caught in an angle of fire from Franco's batteries at Carabanchel and in the Casa de Campo, but the besiegers no longer maintain a continuous fire and the guns shoot only spasmodically, they are often silent for days at a time.

To resist it has cost Madrid 5,500 civilian casualties including nearly 1,500 dead, 20,000 military wounded and dead and at least 4,300 buildings wholly or partially destroyed. At one time, General Jose Miaja, Madrid's defender, held the city with 150,000 to 200,000 troops, but these lines have been thinned down to provide sorely needed reserves for the Valencia and Alamaden front and neutral observers estimate the present Madrid defence force at a maximum of 30,000.

Against those stubbornly determined 30,000 specialists, chiefly sappers who burrow far underground to plant mines under nationalist guns and trenches, anti-aircraft gunners, artillerymen, machine gunners and grenadiers, Generalissimo Francisco Franco is estimated to have 175,000 men assembled from the Sierra Guadarrama, past the former capital to Aranjuez.

In the past year, the lines have not budged. Since Brunete, which was a costly Republican sally, there has been no serious effort to drive the Nationalists back from Madrid. Both sides have settled down to a cat-and-mouse siege, neither wasting men or munitions to try to force an issue.—United Press.

Hitler Wants End Of Incitement

Churchill Named in Speech At Weimar: Disarmament Of Mind Needed

Weimar, Nov. 6.

"We are ready to disarm on condition that there is first a disarmament of the campaign of incitement to war. As long as this is not done, I suppose that a trap is being set for us like in 1918, but that will not be so, Mr. Churchill!" Herr Hitler thus expressed himself here today at the Congress of the National-Socialist Party's Thuringia branch.

He recalled the history of the National-Socialist Party since 1923 at a time when Germany seemed to be verging on a collapse. "National-Socialists followed the saying that God helps him who helps himself," he stated. "In opposition to international ideals such as the League of Nations and the International Courts for world justice, they set before them one ideal; that of the German people."

He paid a tribute to the unlimited energy of the National-Socialist and then exalted the army.

"The Party is the guarantor of National-Socialism, the army is its protector," he said. "As a peace-loving man, I did what I could to create for the German people this army which is of a nature to convince others of the necessity of leaving us alone. Never has a hedgehog attacked another hedgehog," he continued. "Nobdoy should come near us. All we desire is calm and the right to work for our people. This is the most elementary of right. The democracies should understand this since it is the basis of their doctrine. They always speak of justice for little countries, so they should not be indignant if a great people also claimed this justice."

Ready to Disarm

He declared that totalitarian states, in opposition to others, do not incite to war. He then declared his readiness to disarm and addressed himself to Mr. Churchill.

He said that in a previous address delivered some time ago he mentioned by name the three men "inciting to war," and particularly criticized Mr. Churchill who, he said, "would do better if he paid less visits to German emigrants who were traitors to their country," and if he did not misunderstand "the power of the German nation."

The Fuehrer admitted that Germany had no right to ask other countries to modify their constitution but, he said, he was compelled to take into consideration these constitutions.

Herr Hitler then paid a tribute to the friendship existing between Italy and Germany. "The German people will see that the plans of these gentlemen will never succeed," he said. "The Italian people will also see to it. That is a warning to us to remain firm and united and to keep on good terms with our friends. The tighter our bonds with Italy, the harder it will be for others to attempt to harm us."—Havas.

France Turning Back Refugees

Frontier Guards Increased To Prevent Crossing

SPECIAL TO THE "N.C.D.N."

Metz, Nov. 6.

French guards have been strengthened to frustrate attempts to cross the frontier by fugitives from a German concentration camp recently established near Merzig, about two and a half miles from the frontier, for some 300 prisoners, most of them believed to be Austrians and German Catholics.

Numerous fugitives have reached the frontier during the past few days. They assert that they have been told that "'France is over there; try to get across and do not come back to Germany."

Some women and children are among those who have been attempting to cross, but the French authorities have hitherto refused to admit anybody without regular papers, although exception was made yesterday in the case of three sick mothers from Vienna, who are taken to a hospital in Thionville.—Reuter.

German High Schools to Be Removed

Prague, Nov. 6.

As a consequence of the cession of Sudetenland to Germany, all German high schools are to be removed from Czechoslovakia to the Reich, evening papers stated here yesterday.

The German University in Prague, founded in 1348 and consequently the oldest German university, as also the Prague Technical High School will be transferred to the new capital of Sudetenland, Reichenberg, while the technical high school in Bruenn will be removed to Linz, capital city of the district of Upper Danube.—Trans-Ocean.

Bitter U.S. Election Battle

Aggressive Fight for New Deal in Eastern States; Republican Gains Expected Tomorrow

New York, Nov. 5.

ONE of the bitterest off-year election campaigns of recent years entered the stretch drive this week-end with the New Deal leading an aggressive fight to hold its own in the industrial states of the east. President Roosevelt led the fight yesterday with a direct appeal to the Democrats in New York to re-elect Governor Herbert H. Lehman to his third term, and also to re-elect Mr. Frank Murphy, Governor of Michigan, who has been accused by opponents of being the direct cause of industrial strife within the state because of his refusal to call on state forces to crush disputes.

Members of the New Deal Cabinet and leading state and national officials are deployed over a wide front centring around Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

An interesting highlight was injected into the campaign yesterday when Mr. Earl Browder, former Communist candidate for President, paralleled President Roosevelt's charges by accusing Mr. Herbert Hoover, ex-President of the United States of being a representative of Fascism. He said the elements fighting the New Deal represented the forces which brought about the Munich agreement.

Meanwhile, Republican leaders concentrated their campaign on the issue of prosperity, claiming that New Deal policies were the underlying cause of the last immediate recession and that permanent prosperity could never be arrived at under the present Administration.—United Press.

Republican Gains Expected

Washington, Nov. 5.

Both Democrat and Republican observers foretell Republican gains in the Tuesday elections which will affect one-third of the Senate and the whole of the House of Representatives.

In the lower house, the Republicans should gain about 50 seats, which would be considered normal and not signifying any change in the present balance.

It is the general rule that when a Party in power presents itself for two consecutive elections, the second elections usually show an Opposition recovery. In such circumstances, gains of 11 per cent. have been the average since 1875. The Democrats will be defeated only if their opponents' recovery is considerably more than this 11 per cent. average. And, on the other hand, if the Republicans gain much less than 50 seats in the House, Democratic domination may be considered unshaken.

President Roosevelt and his advisers are trying to give Tuesday's elections the character of a national plebiscite for or against the New Deal. At present, it appears that local rather than general policy considerations will play the decisive role in the polling.

Great interest is attached to the results of the battle for a few special posts, such as the Governorships of five or six determined States. Governors are in reality masters of the political machines in their States and they can influence the 1940 elections, observers point out.

Balance Will Be Maintained

Practically all State Governors now are Democrats, but the election of Republicans to the Pennsylvania, Michigan, Ohio and, above all, New York gubernational posts would create more difficulties for the Democratic Administration than would the election of 60 or 70 opposition Congressmen.

In New York State, the electoral fight is especially important because a victory for Thomas Dewey, Republican District Attorney, would have a great psychological effect upon the Republican Party, which has been unable to find a popular leader since 1932.

Nevertheless, despite wide speculation, close observers of the situation do not expect the elections to modify in any important way the present balance. Nor do they believe that the President's prestige will suffer any decline.

Election Details

The elections will bear upon 35 seats in the upper house and the 432 seats in the lower house. They will also affect 32 posts of State Governors and 281 other less important civil and federal official positions. The only seats in the House to remain unaffected will be those occupied by Maine's representatives, who were elected only last September.

Striving to win the 35 Senatorial seats are 107 candidates, including 35 Democrats of whom 24 are trying for re-election, and 23 Republicans of whom three are seeking to retain their office. The rest is made up of eight Socialists, five Prohibitionists, four Communists, three Progressives, one Farmer Labourite, eight Independents and ten others.

In the running for seats in the lower house are 927 candidates. Of these, 426 are Democrats; 291 are trying for re-election. There are 355 Republicans, with 82 trying for another term. The rest of the list includes 15 Progressives, seven running for re-election; 16 Farmer Labourites, with five wanting another term; 37 Socialists; 15 Communists; 27 Prohibitionists, nine Socialist Labourites, 15 Independents and 57 others.

Furthermore, there are 112 candidates for the 32 available Governorships. Thirty-two are Democrats, while 31 are Republicans. The rest play no major role in the battle.

The Democratic Party is confident in the outcome of the electoral battle and counts upon four points for victory: Economic recovery, President Roosevelt's increased personal popularity, the small-salaried classes' evident support of the New Deal, and the reputation of the Republicans as reactionaries.

On the other hand, the Republicans count upon a possible reaction after the years' of existence of the New Deal. The farmers' discontent following the lowered prices of their agricultural products is another factor in their calculations. Also, there are the accusations of corruption hurled against Democrat politicians and a certain alleged distrust of New Dealers, who are accused by some of being "extremist visionaries" and too high-spending administrators.—Havas.

France Not to Give Up Cameroons

New Deal Policies Assailed

Mr. Hoover Declares Them Totalitarian and Fascist; "Coereed Economy"

Spokane, Nov. 5.

Mr. Herbert Hoover, former President of the United States, in a blistering characterization of New Deal policies as "totalitarian and Fascist," today replied to charges of Fascism hurled at him recently by New Deal adherents from President Roosevelt downwards.

Mr. Hoover appealed to the nation to elect Republicans to Congress to replace New Deal "yes-man," and then launched one of his bitterest attacks against President Roosevelt.

He charged the President with "leading America astray and attempting to mix European coercive systems with free enterprise. You will find every one of these powers, every one of these economic ideas somewhere along the Rome-Berlin-Moscow axis," the former President shouted during his address.

He harrangued the National Labour Relations Board as an "Un-American combination of powers, including those of the legislator, prosecutor, judge, jury and executioner.....all this may be merely a morning exercise in Fascism," he declared.

Mr. Hoover estimated that the government is supporting 30,000,000 citizens and that the New Deal is spreading poverty. "A New Deal slogan might be 'two families in every garage,'" he declared.

Mr. Hoover closed his tirade with a bitter denunciation of planned economy, whose true name, he said, should be "coerced economy."—United Press.

What Success for New Deal Will Mean

"Good Neighbour" Policy To S.A. Intensified

Washington, Nov. 5.

A New Deal triumph in the elections next Tuesday would mean intensification of the "Good Neighbour" policy toward Latin-America, amplification of the Administration's defence programme and long-term preferential relations between the United States and the Philippines, a survey of international observers revealed today.

The Far Eastern situation, however, has not precipitated any clear-cut division of partisan opinion here as popular sympathies appear to be with China. As a result, it is inexpedient for the Republicans to criticize the Administration's failure to invoke the Neutrality Act.

Foreign affairs are relatively unimportant factors in the campaign because President Roosevelt in recent weeks has gained the favour of the "preparedness" elements through his active rearmament efforts, and simultaneously disarmed criticism from the pacifistic groups by his successful intercession in the European crisis.

The reciprocal trade policy of Mr. Cordell Hull, the Secretary of State, have been widely but apparently rather ineffectually criticized, chiefly from mid-western agrarian groups where their displeasure is partly offset by the Administration's recently stimulated farm programme. This programme, sponsored by Mr. Henry Wallace, Secretary of Agriculture, includes subsidization of wheat exports and plans for relieving farm commodity surpluses through a two-price system, both operating externally and internally.

New England and Pennsylvania, industrial states, are uneasy regarding the terms of the United States-United Kingdom trade pact but political opposition has been allayed by the government's refusal to disclose terms of the projected agreement.

Observers believe that President Roosevelt's sympathy with the Jewish refugee problem will be helpful to the Democrats in the close New York electoral fight.

In view of the active political attention given by the Roosevelt administration to the conflict between Democratic philosophy and totalitarian ideas, any important set-back to New Dealers in the election would tend to encourage the "isolationists" who do not believe that philosophical contention should be an adjunct of general policy.—United Press.

Britain's Big War Pensions Bill

£39,000,000 A Year Being Paid for Great War

SPECIAL TO THE "N.C.D.N."

London, Nov. 6.

Great Britain is still paying about £39,000,000 in pensions arising from the Great War, declared the Minister of Pensions, Mr. Herwald Ramsbotham, in a speech yesterday at the British Legion conference.

He said that expenditure on war pensions from 1914 to March 31 last had totalled £1,275,000,000, or double the whole prewar national debt. There were still on the books of the Ministry, 420,000 pensioners and 500,000 dependents, while there were about 2,000 patients in the Ministry's hospitals.—Reuter.

Lord Mayor's Banquet

London, Nov. 6.

As is customary, the Foreign Secretary will propose the toast of the Diplomatic Corps at the Lord Mayor's banquet next Wednesday.

The Brazilian Ambassador will reply. The Prime Minister will as usual reply to the toast of H.M. Ministers.—Wireless through Reuter.

Jailbreaker and Loot Seized

Russian Who Fled French Prison Arrested with Three Mates as Phone Cable Thieves

DETECTIVES from the Settlement's Crime Branch Headquarters rounded up their second important gang of Russian looters in the Eastern area yesterday, arresting four youths of the "wild boy" type and seizing about 350 yards of stolen telephone cable and various electrical accessories and tools. Of particular significance was the fact that one of those arrested was Eugene Dolgoff, the younger of the two men who escaped from the French Concession Jail in Rue Massenet on October 25, through a hole they had made in the prison wall.

With Dolgoff's arrest it was revealed that he and his companion, Victor Borissenko, who was serving a long sentence for attempted murder, had fled Shanghai and made their way to Nanking, where they were arrested by the Japanese authorities. On their way back to Shanghai in custody, Dolgoff related, Borissenko managed to escape, while Dolgoff himself succeeded in convincing his captors that he was not wanted for any crime here. Upon his return Dolgoff, who at the age of 20 has been in jail three times in Shanghai for larceny and looting, joined a gang of Wayside "wild boys" living in the war ruins and specializing in stealing the Shanghai Telephone Company's cable all over the Eastern district.

Hidden Lair Comfortable

It was in the lair of this gang, carefully camouflaged in a lane, 283 Kungping Road, which lies almost entirely in ruins, that Detective Sub-Inspector B. Maklævsky, accompanied by Detective Sub-Inspector P. T. Knovaloff, arrested the four youths yesterday morning at dawn. Besides Dolgoff, the police took into custody John Gomaniloff, Jonn Zaitzeff and Victor Ivanoff, all of them unemployed Russians with previous convictions. They were found in various inhabitable rooms which they had fitted out with looted furniture and pictures and where they apparently were leading an easy and generally comfortable life. They did their cooking on improvised charcoal stoves.

The stolen telephone cable was found in coils containing about fifty yards each, ready for transportation to the receivers. Its value is set at well over $1,000. Such cable, taken from the company's lines under cover of darkness, has repeatedly been sold by looters to Chinese and Japanese receivers who melt down the copper-wire centre and the heavy leaden jacket for resale in ingot form. Thefts of up to 600 ft. of cable at one time have been perpetrated in recent months in both the Eastern district and the western Hungjao Road area at night right under the nose of the Japanese military in control of the areas. In a recent instance, however, Japanese sentries chased Chinese looters in possession of telephone cable and shot one of them dead in the Whangpoo River off one of the Yangtszepoo wharves, while another was captured by the British military guard at the Shanghai Waterworks.

Another Gang on Remand

The four men arrested yesterday morning will be brought before the First Special District Court today, and Sub-Inspector Maklævsky, whose investigations led to their arrest, will submit the evidence against them. Another, similar gang is now on remand at the same court—six Russians and one Chinese arrested in the Wayside district. They were taken into custody by Crime Branch Headquarters detectives who found them living, surrounded by ruins, in an alleyway off Dent Road. Like the Kungping Road hide-out, this lair was cleverly concealed and difficult of access. Telephone cable and burglars' tools were secreted in the house.

Dolgoff, the elusive convict who was arrested yesterday, was serving a three-year term for housebreaking when he escaped from the French Jail on October 25 last. With his cell-mate, Borissenko, he made a hole in the brick wall of the building and then placed boards taken from one of their beds, so as to reach the outer wall. The two men lowered themselves to Rue Stanislas Chevalier by means of bedclothes tied together. They hid for a few days in Shanghai and then wandered up-country until they reached Nanking. It is believed that Borissenko is still in hiding somewhere in the vicinity of Shanghai and that he has no chance of evading arrest in the long run.

Russians Oppose Comintern

Local Whites to Unite in Common Front; Japan, Italy, Germany to Be Contacted

Politically significant as far as White Russian interests in Shanghai are concerned was the meeting held at the Astor House Hotel yesterday afternoon, on the eve of the 21st anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution in Russia, when a large body of local Russians passed a resolution of opposition to the Communists and support for a common front against the Comintern.

The meeting was attended by between 300 and 400 Russians and was held at the Astor House, which has been a Japanese headquarters for some time. It was the first public demonstration in the political field since the beginning of the hostilities although at Peiping, Tientsin and Tsingtao anti-Communist committees have been formed since Japanese occupation.

A minute's silence preceded the meeting at which a number of speeches were made stressing the necessity for uniting against Communism. A three point resolution was passed deciding: (1) To create an anti-Communist centre for Shanghai Russians (2) To attract to the centre all active national groupings of Shanghai Russians (3) To establish anti-Communist contacts with political organs in Japan, Germany and Italy for establishing a common front against Communism.

Japanese Celebrate Rescript

"Spiritual Mobilization" Week in Shanghai

Shanghai Japanese will observe the 15th anniversary of the granting of the Imperial Rescript on the Development of the National Spirit by participating in a "Spiritual Mobilization Week" which will be observed throughout Japan, local Japanese-language papers reported yesterday morning.

Beginning today special programmes have been arranged for each day for one week. All programmes will be designed to "spiritually brace" all Japanese. Local observance of the "spiritual drive" will be sponsored by Japanese schools under the jurisdiction of the Japanese Residents' Corporation.

The daily programmes for the forthcoming week have been arranged as follows:—

Monday:—"Reverence Day" to be observed at the Shanghai Shrine.
Tuesday:—Comfort visits to various local army and navy hospitals and unit headquarters as well as a collection of a comfort fund.
Wednesday:—"Saving Day."
Thursday:—Special services to be held in all official, civilian and other offices, schools, firms and factories, for the reading of the Imperial Rescript on Spiritual Development, and the Imperial Rescript on Education.
Friday:—To be devoted to improvement of daily life.
Saturday:—"Day of Order and Cleanliness."
Sunday:—"Day of Physical Exercise."

Fourth Marines Church

The commemoration service and concert of the United States Fourth Marines, on the occasion of the 163rd. anniversary of the founding of the Corps, in the Metropol Theatre yesterday morning drew a large congregation. Chaplain R. R. Marken of the Fourth Marines conducted the worship, delivering an excellent memorial sermon on the theme "Always Faithful," the Marine Corps Motto. Selections by the band in the service included the lovely "Angel's Serenade" by Braga and for the Offertory Rachmaninoff's "Prelude in C Sharp Minor." The special music of the worship was "Beyond The Hilltops" by Paris, played by an instrumental quartet, composed of five excellent musicians of the Marine Band. Sergeant Sheehan led the singing of the hymns with accompaniment being supplied by the Band.

Following the service an outstanding concert programme was presented, featuring as guest artists, Master Frankie Fonseca and Mr. J. P. Fonseca. Young Frankie, aged ten, accompanied by his father and teacher, Mr. Fonseca first rendered a piano selection "Zampa" by Herold. For his second number Frankie, who is a fine instrumentalist despite the handicap of having lost his left arm at birth, played as a violin solo "Evening Star" from "Tanhauser" by the noted Wagner. In view of the extraordinary handicap to such renditions, this feature only stands out more because of the difficulty of the selections named: A great round of applause greeted the lad at the conclusion of each rendition. Ably conducted by Staff Sergeant William R. Stuart, the Fourth Marines' Band opened the concert playing the striking "American Patrol" by Meacham and also played Boito's enchanting "Mefistofele" the Marines' Hymn and the American National Anthem. The return of the Fourth Marine Drum and Trumpet Corps who combined with the Band to render Souza's famed march "Semper Fidelis" was one of the highlights.

Heavy Casualties In Yangtze

Chinese War Dead Reported To Total 119,000; Japanese Losses 6,100

Belying reports of an almost unopposed Japanese occupation of the Wuhan sector, a communique issued yesterday afternoon by the headquarters of the Japanese Expeditionary Forces in Central China revealed that 1,436 bodies of Chinese soldiers were counted by Japanese forces immediately preceding their occupation of the Wuhan area.

Besides these Chinese who were found dead, the communique revealed, 5,270 Chinese soldiers were taken prisoner by the Japanese.

Booty which was taken by the Japanese in the immediate vicinity of the Wuhan sector, the communique said, included 100 heavy guns, 221 field and mountain guns as well as 15,070 rounds of ammunition for these guns, 96 anti-tank guns, 14 anti-aircraft guns, 282 trench mortars, 12 small calibre guns, 367 heavy machine guns, 1,237 light machine guns, 21,000 rifles and 8,295,800 rounds of rifle ammunition.

Casualties Since August

Meanwhile, regarding the heavy casualties among the Chinese in the Central China campaign including the fall of the Wuhan areas, a spokesman of the Japanese army declared yesterday afternoon that the number of Chinese casualties, estimated at 350,000 from the 119,000 bodies abandoned by the Chinese on various fields of battle, is less than the general ratio between dead and wounded.

This, he explained, is due to the use of heavy calibre guns and large bombs which result in a higher death toll. The spokesman added that another important contributing factor is the almost complete lack of adequate medical facilities in the Chinese armies.

Japanese losses in the Central China campaign, from approximately the beginning of August to the fall of Hankow, totalled 6,153, the spokesman said.

In the South China campaign, the spokesman said, Chinese abandoned 6,370 bodies on fields of battle. From this, he added, it is estimated that the Chinese casualties topped the 20,000 mark.

Spanish Prisoners to Be Exchanged

8,000 Men to Change Under Truce Agreement

Hendaye, Nov. 5.

Assembling under a British flag, Nationalist and Republican army officers will carry out one of the most dramatic moments of the entire civil war some time this month when 4,000 prisoners from each side will be exchanged.

A momentary truce will be declared, and officials from each side will march out under the neutral British flag, after which the prisoners will be exchanged.

Details have not been completed as yet, and there may be a last-minute hitch. It is expected, however, that the plan will be carried out sometime this month. It is now only necessary to decide the exact place for the transfer, as most of the other plans have been completed.

A neutral Commission is arranging for the transfer of the prisoners many of whom—on both sides—are suffering from malnutrition and illness. Some are declared to be insane.—United Press.

Air Raid Exercises In Hertfordshire

London, Nov. 5.

There will be a three-hours' black-out, covering 640 square miles of Hertfordshire, tonight in combination with A.R.P. exercises on the part of 34 administrative authorities within the county area.

The first big A.R.P. exercise attempted near London, it is expected to be the most complete and impressive to date, since the personnel is almost fully recruited. An R.A.F. bomber squadron will observe the effect of the blackout from the air.—Wireless through Reuter.

Berlin, Nov. 6.

The Polish representatives who have been participating in talks here on the expulsion of Poles from Germany, left last night for Warsaw to report to the Polish Government. The discussions will be continued on Monday.

The Polish delegation, in yesterday's talk, is said to have stressed the necessity of guaranteeing the material and economic interests of Polish citizens in Germany.—Reuter.

Marathon Celebrates Japanese Victory

Tokyo, Nov. 6.

One of the most extraordinary Marathon races in the history of Japan neared its finish today as 15,000 picked runners sped toward Tokyo in short relays carrying a "holy halberd" dedicated to a "permanent Japanese victory" from the Grand Shrines of Ise, 310 miles from the capital.

The course followed by the runners, more than twice the distance of the famous Spartan Marathon, is divided into 231 relays. The first runner left the Grand Shrines at Ise on Friday and passed the halberd on to the next waiting athlete when he had covered his allotted distance. The last halberd bearer was expected to arrive in Tokyo at 6 o'clock this evening. The emblem will be presented to the Meiji Shrine. The unique event is sponsored by the Japan Amateur Track and Field Athletic Federation.—Domei.

13 Planes Reported Shot Down

Japanese Raid Liangshan Aerodrome in Szechuen

Almost an entire Chinese air squadron of 20 planes was wiped out Saturday when Japanese naval aircraft in a spectacular air battle over the Liangshan aerodrome in Szechuen Province, shot down 13 planes and badly damaged four others, Japanese naval spokesman declared yesterday afternoon.

The Japanese squadron, composing approximately 20 heavy bombers, the spokesman said, first raided the aerodrome where three large-size bombers and two smaller craft grounded on the field were bombed and destroyed.

Immediately after the raid, the Japanese planes came to grips with the Chinese squadron. In the spectacular dog fight which ensued, the spokesman said, Japanese airmen clearly accounted for 13 Chinese planes.

The report of the raid, the spokesman said, revealed that all the Japanese planes though badly riddled, returned to ther base safely. Other naval air units, the spokesman said, raided Chinese concentrations at Shayangchen, in Hupeh Province, 30 kilometres northeast of Shashih, and also at Ifong, in Kiangsi Province 100 miles south of Sungyang.

Naval units on the Yangtze, the naval spokesman declared, removed a large number of mines in the river and advance to Sangkiashih, 12 nautical miles upstream from Yaowan.

Regarding naval operations in South China, the spokesman revealed that the naval air force made routine raids on Wuyuan and Lungshen. "Their marksmanship was poor, the spokesman declared, and the results were "not very satisfactory."

Parliament to Reopen Tomorrow

Rearmament Will be Main Subject of Discussion

London, Nov. 6.

The fourth session of the 37th Parliament of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland will be opened in state next Tuesday by the King.

The first two days of the new session will be taken up with a general debate on the Address in reply to the King's Speech, and an Opposition amendment will be taken on Thursday and discussed well into the middle of the following week.

The rearmament programme is expected to furnish the main subjects of discussion in the debates on the address, and next to that the chief interest in anticipation centres on the announcement on Palestine which the Colonial Secretary has promised for early in the new session.—Wireless through Reuter.

Conditions Better In Palestine

Military Measures Deemed Justified; Gangs Stopped From Concentrating

SPECIAL TO THE "N.C.D.N."

Jerusalem, Nov. 6.

The improvement in the Palestine situation, which has taken place since the Army assumed virtual control, is already so evident that the measure is regarded here as justified.

It is still too early to predict the complete crushing of the rebellion, but the occupation of main towns, picketing of villages and the preventing of gangs from concentrating are proceeding apace. At the same time, the institution of travel permits has immobilised the lines of communication of recalcitrant Arabs.

Yesterday's incidents included the throwing of a bomb at the Gaza station and the killing of an Arab who was cutting telephone wires near Jenin.

A quantity of material for the manufacture of land mines was discovered in villages near Nablus.—Reuter.

Fighting Continues

Jerusalem, Nov. 6.

Apart from military and police traffic, the highways of Palestine yesterday were devoid of all movement since Saturday is the Jewish Sabbath and the Arabs are on strike. In certain isolated places, however, the fighting between troops and irregulars continued.

In Bethlehem, British troops and Arab irregulars exchanged several volleys. One British soldier was wounded in the head. In Nazareth, one sergeant and one private of the Hampshire Regiment were wounded by bombs thrown by Arabs. Bombs were also thrown at the railway station at Gaza.

When Arabs and British troops were exchanging shots in Jaffa, a Jewish policeman was hit. At the frontier, a police armoured car ran off the road injuring a policeman. The presumption is that the car was upset by an obstacle placed by Arabs.—Trans-Ocean.

American President Service Resumed

Monroe Sails on Round-the-World Trip

San Francisco, Nov. 5.

The reorganized American President Lines, formerly the Dollar Lines, resumed its round-the-world trans-Pacific schedules today when the President Monroe sailed for Kobe.

The lines were taken over recently by the government and are being administered by a special board headed by Mr. Joseph R. Sheehan. All connections with the Dollar family were severed when Mr. Robert Dollar Jr., son of the founder of the line, resigned as chairman of the board together with other members.—United Press.

Over 100 Explosions Occur in Hankow

Hankow, Nov. 6.

Over 100 small explosions occurred this morning in the Chinese city, about 600 yards behind Reuter's office. Several buildings just beyond the ex-British Concession gates are ablaze.

The cause of the explosions is unknown, but possibly an ammunition dump caught fire.—Reuter.

Many Anti-Communist Meetings

Chinese In Occupied Areas Holds Demonstrations

Mass anti-Chiang and anti-Communist meetings were held yesterday in the principal cities in the areas under the jurisdiction of the Reformed Government, including Nanking, Soochow and Pootung, it was reported in yesterday's Japanese-language dailies here.

The largest demonstrations, the papers said, were held at Nanking, seat of the new Reformed Government when tens of thousands of Chinese assembled around the Drum Tower to hear a series of speeches in which urgent demands were made for the early organization of a Central Chinese administration incorporating the Peiping and Nanking regimes.

A huge mass parade, the papers reported, was held in the afternoon in Nanking while in the evening thousands carrying lanterns paraded through the streets of the city. Two balloons, it was also reported, were raised, one carrying the banner "Peace in Asia," and the other streamer reading "Anti-Communism." Overhead roared airplanes which dropped leaflets on which were printed similar mottos.

Chinese in Pootung, the papers reported, assembled in the Tungchong Plaza for an anti-Chiang, anti-Communist meeting. The whole plaza, the papers added, was decorated by the Five-Barred Flag of the new Nanking regime.

Similar demonstrations took place at Siashih-chen on Friday afternoon. It was reported that some 5,000 men and women comprising the representative of various anti-Chiang organizations, assembled in the Siashih theatre to demand national reconstruction and the overthrow of the Chiang Kai-shek regime. Soochow also was the scene of demonstrations of this character yesterday.

President of Soviet War Court Arrested

Moscow, Nov. 6.

The President of the Supreme War Court of the Soviet Union, M. Ullrich, was arrested last night on suspicion of Trotskyism, according to a reliable source. M. Ullrich had been President of the Court which condemned Tukhatshevsky and his friends to death.

Of those who were then judges in this court, only Marshal Budenny, chief of the Moscow garrison, and Shaposhnikov, Chief of the General Staff, are still in their positions.—Trans-Ocean.

Chicago Archbishop Visits Rome

Resumed Relations with U.S. Seen As Possibility

Rome, Nov. 6.

The remarkably ceremonious welcome given to Cardinal Mundelein, Archbishop of Chicago, on his arrival in Italy yesterday is held to have special significance.

The Cardinal was met at Naples by the American Ambassador, and then had lunch with Admiral Lackey aboard the American cruiser Omaha. Afterwards, he proceeded to Rome, where he was met by the Under-Secretary of State of the Vatican and many civil and ecclesiastical authorities.

One reason widely suggested is that the Cardinal's visit is connected with the possibility of a renewal of diplomatic relations between the United States and the Holy See, suspended since 1870.—Reuter.

Election Propaganda Move

Berlin, Nov. 5.

Under the banner-line "Agitator Mundelein sees the Pope; Vatican launches election deal," the newspaper "Der Angriff" today published a dispatch from Rome alleging that Cardinal Mundelein's visit to the Vatican is "actually a political deal."

The newspaper alleged that "21,000,000 Catholics....will decide the coming elections.....President Roosevelt was elected in 1936 with Catholic help in return for a promise to allow a Papal Nunciate at Washington and to allow state support of Catholic schools."

Cardinal Mundelein is still in disfavour in Nazi circles because of his characterization two years ago of Herr Adolf Hitler as a "brown-shirted paper-hanger."—United Press.

Czechs Receive First Part Of Credit

Prague, Nov. 6.

The Czech State Bank has already received £5,000,000 as the first part of the loan from the British Government to Czechoslovakia, the Prague broadcasting service stated last night.

The foreign exchange holdings of the bank have been increased by this transfer and certain concessions to holders of foreign exchange obtained as payment for exports have accordingly already been announced.—Trans-Ocean.

Fire Victims' Funeral Postponed

Marseilles Ruins are Still Being Searched

Marseilles, Nov. 5.

Final funeral services for the victims of the disastrous department store blaze here last week, have been postponed indefinitely. The authorities are continuing investigations and intend to make absolutely sure there are no more bodies in the charred "Nouvelles Galeries" wreckage before proceeding with the funerals.

The greater part of the site of the huge fire has been swept clear, but searchers still have to go through the debris along Rue Thubaneau. Here, timber and bricks are piled up to a breadth of seven metres, and it is believed that 15 bodies will be found midst this wreckage.—Havas.

An Enemy To Every Girl

Be On Your Guard Against Anaemia.

The girl of to-day has to guard against that old enemy, anaemia, just as her mother did in her youth. Now, as then, the evil influence of anaemia creeps stealthily into the lives of young girls and women, and often this state of bloodlessness is neglected until serious results develop.

The anaemic girl finds herself becoming pale, languid, nervous and breathless. She has feelings of faintness and often experiences headaches, backaches, breathlessness and palpitation.

If you have observed any of these warning signs, then beware of anaemia, and remember that you can make yourself well and strong, with healthy development assured, by taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Not once or twice, but in thousands of cases, these pills have transformed pale sickly girls into robust healthy women, simply because they create the new rich blood that is so urgently needed to overcome anaemia's evils.

Feel the joy and vigour that new blood will infuse into your system by taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills now. Of all chemists.

Joint Action in Far East Will Be Discussed in Paris

French Speculate on Firm Action by Britain, France And U.S. Against Japan; U.S. Main Factor

Paris, Nov. 5.

POLITICAL observers speculated today on the possibility of firm diplomatic action by Britain, France and the United States in the Far East in an effort to save commercial interests now threatened by Japanese aggression in China. Formulation of a joint policy toward the Japanese conquest of China will form a part of the discussions between Mr. Neville Chamberlain, Lord Halifax, M. Edouard Daladier and M. Georges Bonnet during the visit late this month of the British leaders to Paris.

Unconfirmed reports said that the French Government inspired the speculation in political quarters concerning possible joint action by the three nations since France is vitally concerned over the possibility of future Japanese aggression in Indo-China.

Joint action by the three nations, or even with the United States merely acting along parallel lines, would prove to be a powerful weapon in forcing Japan to recognize western interests in China, it was pointed out.—United Press.

Tokyo, Nov. 6.

All existing international treaties by which the Far East is treated as having the status of a colony, are to be subjected to a close scrutiny, a semi-official Japanese declaration stated yesterday. This step is considered here to be equivalent to a Japanese demand for "re-organization in East Asia".

Among those treaties to be examined in this way will be the Nine Power Pact, and it is generally believed that this pact will be rescinded in the near future.

In political circles here, the Japanese standpoint is interpreted to be that a peaceful solution of the conflict with China will be impossible as long as third states exercise political influence in East Asia. The solution of the present conflict is only possible through the co-operation of all states of the Far East, it is declared.—Trans-Ocean.

America Awaiting Reply

Washington, Nov. 5.

The United States' attitude towards the Far East remains unchanged and will stay expectant until a reply is received to the Note sent Japan on October 6, when Washington protested against infringement upon its rights in China. Such is the opinion of authoritative diplomatic quarters here, questioned today by a Havas correspondent.

They believe that Britain's attitude, preferring a compromise with the totalitarian countries to an economic or ideological battle, leaves the U.S. practically isolated in the Far East. Such is the United States' position because Mr. Cordell Hull refuses to conclude any accord which might imperil the principles of his policy, the same circles add.

But his policy is now menaced both abroad and inside this country, close observers note. Mr. Neville Chamberlain's policies threaten it abroad, they say. And internally, it is menaced by the attitude of sections of opinion whose essential interests lie in the maintenance of exports.

These latter sections of opinion are represented both by Wall Street quarters and by the southern States where the record crop of cotton and the lowered price of this commodity are raising an important economic problem.

Observers now wonder whether, facing such opposition, the U.S. Government will be able to maintain the firmness of their foreign policy.—Havas.

Policy Known For Years

Paris, Nov. 5.

Premier Konoye's broadcast speech was a public expose of Japanese aims in Asia, which have been well-known for the past ten years, an editorial in the influential "Le Temps" claimed today.

Explaining and commenting upon the address, this newspaper voices surprise at the fact that it should be considered by the whole world as a sudden revelation of Japan's attitude. "At most, it can only be said that Premier Konoye waited for the fait accompli, the occupation of Hankow before playing his hand, the cards of which were known perfectly well since the Japanese Government proclaimed (on January 16) their determination never to deal with General Chiang Kai-shek,...." the editorial asserts.

"It is therefore finally a question of substituting a real Japanese imperialism for the so-called 'occidental imperialism' that Japan denounces with such vigour."

"Le Temps" proceeds to explain the formation of a "Great-Asia bloc," which excludes, ipso facto, the "Open Door" policy "The fact that Premier Konoye expressed gratitude for the 'aid and understanding' of Germany and Italy, proves that Tokyo counts above all upon the present deep division between the western powers.... However, it is not certain that this policy will easily be led to a successful end."

In conclusion, the news organ states that the final determinining factor will be the attitude of the United States, which is at present the big question mark in the Far East.—Havas.

M. Blum Endorses Popular Front

Government on This Basis More Necessary Since the Munich Agreement

Paris, Nov. 5.

His adherence to the idea of "French unity based upon the Popular Front," was reaffirmed today by M. Leon Blum, former Premier and now leader of the Socialist Party, in a speech before the Party's National Council.

"A Government including all the essential forces of the nation could have succeeded in preserving peace without paying such a heavy price and the recent international crisis would have passed otherwise," he stated, commenting upon the terms of the Munich Agreement.

"I am convinced that such a formation of government is even more necessary today and that if a ministerial crisis were to occur within the next several weeks, public opinion would demand such a union of the nation's essential forces upon a parliamentary plan."

Earlier in his address, M. Blum expressed his certainty of the Socialist Party's unanimity...."The Socialists will reject the appeal addressed to them at Marseilles to let themselves be enrolled in an anti-Communist campaign, for they know where this appeal comes from."

M. Blum clarified his attitude, "We cannot accept a situation in which one party adhering to the Popular Front demands the exclusion of another. No Party has such a right with regard to any other group. It can leave the body in which is the other Party, but in that case, it should say so." On the other hand, M. Blum asserted he did not think the Socialists should "declare war" upon the Government unless the question arises either of prolongation of plenary powers or of a financial scheme inspired by a spirit contrary to that which animated the plan of the last Popular Front Government.

"The situation is so grave that the country expects us to adopt a plan other than that of parliamentary speech-making," the Socialist leader concluded.—Havas.

Aborigines Recognition Sought by China

Chungking, Nov. 6.

The People's Political Council, now meeting here, has passed a resolution calling for closer relations with the non-Chinese tribes indigenous to western China.

The resolution also demands the abolition of the censorship at present exercised by the Government on manuscripts for magazines and books.—Reuter.

Hungary's Expansion To Be Blocked

Yugoslavia and Rumania in Opposition to Claims

Bucharest, Nov. 6.

It is an open secret that much of the discussion was devoted to means of opposing further territorial gains by dissatisfied Powers when Prince Paul, the Regent of Yugoslavia, and King Carol, of Rumania, conferred on the international situation yesterday.

A communique afterwards said that complete identity of views prevailed on all questions examined, and that the relations between the two countries were stronger than ever before.

The King and the Prince subsequently left for a shooting party in Transylvania. Both rulers are said to be determined to strengthen their respective countries' efforts to oppose Hungary's attempts to regain territory lost during the War.

The opinion that Rumania would soon be directly involved was expressed today by the well-known Liberal statesman, M. Constantin Bratianu, in an interview with Reuter. He considered that if both Italy and Germany supported Hungary's claims, there was nothing to do but to yield unless the Western democratic powers lent their support.

The opinion in diplomatic circles in Bucharest is that Poland's dissatisfaction with Germany's recent attitude may result in the creation of a new Little Entente comprising Rumania, Yugoslavia and Poland. This combination, with the greater Western Powers, it is believed, would be able to oppose any drive eastward by Germany.—Reuter.

In "Stolen Heaven," which opened at the Cathay Theatre yesterday, Miss Olympe Bradna, given her first opportunity in Hollywood in a starring role, realized the hopes which her sponsors had entertained during the past year while she was learning English. The part did not call for heavy dramatics, but was of a sympathetic nature, to which she did ample justice. In short the plot has to do with the reformation of crooks brought about through the influence of Viennese music, both Miss Bradna and her partner, Mr. Gene Raymond, deciding to go "straight" after they finish their terms of imprisonment. Despite the excellence of the principals, honours must go to that veteran character player, Mr. Lewis Stone, who as Langauer, aged musical genius, stages a comeback through the dubious efforts of five thieves. Miss Glenda Farrell and Mr. Porter Hall were their accustomed selves, but unfortunately Mr. Douglass Dumbrille was given too small a role to allow him scope for his ability. See the picture, if only for the music and its relaxing effects.

Great Upsets in U.S. Football

Pittsburgh Humbled by Carnegie Tech; Cal Goes Down Before U.S.C.

New York, Nov. 5.

Two resounding wails of despair rent the air from the Golden Gate to the Alleghenies today when two of the mightiest football aggregations in the United States, Pittsburgh and California, went down to ignominious defeat.

Touted as the East's hope to capture the New Year's Day Rose Bowl classic, Coach Jock Sutherland's powerhouse Panther's found a young but eager Carnegie Tech eleven ready to eat Panther meat—and walked off the field at the end of the game with the scoreboard reading: Carnegie Tech, 20; Pittsburgh 10.

Not in the least awed by the prowess of the mighty Marshall Goldberg, the rambling all-American halfback now playing in the vital fullback slot, the Tech boys tore into their perennial rivals from the steel town. They not only smashed up Sutherland's most powerful off-tackle slants and tricky reverses, but came up with an offense that collected the points when they were needed.

On the Pacific Coast, a bewildered crowd of Bear partisans looked askance at a hysterical mob of Trojan supporters who were tearing up goalposts and snake-dancing around the field, shrilly shouting that final score: Southern California 13, California 10.

California, classed as "not too hot" before the season, jumped into an early Conference lead, bowling over all opposition almost at will until the Trojans—smarting under successive week-end defeats—clubbed a snorting Bruin over the head and then proceeded to walk off the field with a one-touchdown victory.

With both teams definitely out of the running—at least for the time being, Notre Dame and Minnesota saw a clear field ahead of them and rumbled into high gear for the dash down the home stretch of the 1938 season.

The Golden Gophers came up with another of those walloping, smashing attacks that have pulverized opposing squads for years and rode an alert Hawkeye team from Iowa into the ground, 28-0. The Gophers, undefeated so far this year, should be logical choices now for the Rose Bowl bid—but Big Ten custom has prevented the mid-western squads from accepting such invitations.

Guy Fawkes Day

London, Nov. 6.

Guy Fawkes Day was celebrated throughout Great Britain yesterday with as much noise as ever. Fireworks were the order of the day as well as crackers.—Havas.

Greasy Ground Leads to Victory for Whites

Blacks Beaten in Rugby Club Game

Adapting themselves to the condition of the ground much better than their opponents after a heavy downpour during the middle of the game had made the pitch most treacherous for both successful handling and speedy running, the Club Whites (vice-Captain's XV) overcame the Club Blacks (Captain's XV) at the Race Course yesterday afternoon, after being eight points behind at one period of the game.

The final score 15-8 in the Whites' favour, was a fair reflection of the play, for after half-time with the score reading 8 to 3 against them, the vice-Captain's forwards did the correct thing under the circumstances, dribbling the ball ahead and indulging in foot rushes that had the Blacks' defence floundering all over the place.

Rigg, the losers' full-back, played a splendid game in the first-half, but the slippery ball had him guessing time after time in the second period with the result that this usually reliable player found himself passed on several occasions with disastrous results.

Pack Proves Powerful

The entire White pack played very well in the latter period with Richmond and Reynolds outstanding and although A. M. Kennedy and Bradford did very well against a line of forwards who would not be denied, it was a pity that the Blacks did not take the ball at their feet instead of letting it out to their threes when they secured possession. A much closer game must have resulted had these tactics been employed.

This game served to show, however, that the Club is certainly going to have a most powerful pack this year, a pack that will take a great deal of overcoming in any representative game. It is difficult at this period to say who will form the threes for, in the first half when the ground was in perfect condition for fleet-footed back movements, both sets of three-quarters did quite well with, perhaps, J. W. M. Martin, Mills and Read showing up a little better than their team mates.

A. G. White, at stand-off for the Whites' was impressive, his handling and running being up to a high standard. Some difficulty may be experienced in regard to the selection of the scrum-half, both who played yesterday not being quick enough in getting the ball away from the base of the scrum when it came out. The split-seconds that are thus often wasted invariably make all the difference between the halves being able to get away at speed or being brought down by fast opposing wing forwards.

CLUB BLACKS:—W. Rigg; I. Hutchison, G. Mills, I. Aucott, J. W. M. Martin; A. P. D. Kennedy, B. Brown; J. March, J. Sayle, G. Yanus, I. Bradford, A. M. Kennedy, M. Liddell, F. Burch, W. Chadwick.

CLUB WHITES:—P. de Beaumont; P. Innes, A. Read, R. Roe, C. Guignard; A. White, J. B. Martin; W. Pearson, R. Reynolds, D. Wheeler, G. Brown, P. Tay, W. Richmond.

Referee:"L. Walkinshaw.

Martin Scores

The first five minutes saw the ball moving quickly from one end of the field to the other with several scrums and midfield plays intervening. At the end of this period, the Blacks attacked and the ball was taken well down the pitch. From an ensuing passing movement in which all the threes participated, J. W. M. Martin secured and showing a clean pair of heels, easily eluded his tacklers to run round and touch down between the posts. Rigg converted with a good kick.

The Whites retaliated and several efforts to force the ball over the line failed by the closest of margins. Good passing among the threes was seen from both sides, but keen tackling nullified all movements until twenty minutes had elapsed when, after the Blacks' had been hammering at their opponents' line for several minutes, Auccott secured and went over near the left corner flag for an unconverted try.

Shortly afterwards the rain came down in torrents and the Whites, quick to take advantage of the slippery state of the ground, reduced the leeway when Read scored between the posts. The kick, taken by the scorer, failed.

The second period saw the Whites continually on the attack, one foot rush after another and kicking ahead and quick following up having the Blacks all at sea. Innes scored shortly after the resumption to be followed immediately after by Richmond who also went over. This left the Blacks one point behind, but playing with continued vigour and spirit the Whites went further ahead, Richmond and White crossing the line before the final whistle sounded to bring the score up to 15-8 in the Whites' favour, all the tries in the second half being unconverted.

Gargle with 'ASPRO' the Moment You Feel Your Throat is Sore

WHEN you have a sore or relaxed throat, make a gargle with 'ASPRO.' Prepare the gargle by crushing and dissolving three 'ASPRO' Tablets in half a glass of water. Stir well before using. Repeat the gargle every two or three hours as required, but make it fresh each time. Do not let the mixture stand over night. The reason why 'ASPRO' acts as a soother and an effective antiseptic for sore throats, is because of its germicidal qualities. There is no need to worry if you swallow some of the mixture when gargling—it won't do you any harm, but will soothe the inflamed membranes of the throat.

'ASPRO' will Smash a Cold in 24 Hours

Germany Springs Surprise at Rowing Club Regatta

Fine Victory Unexpectedly Scored in Trial Fours; England Wins Eights; Enthusiastic Crowd

UNHERALDED and unsung, Germany represented by F. Istl, M. Marcus, O. Jurany and W. Ulbricht brought off the surprise of the Shanghai Rowing Club Autumn Regatta by scoring a magnificent victory in the International Trial Fours. America finished second fighting every inch of the course, but Germany took the lead at the half mile, and retained this to the finish, although the Americans came up at the last quarter, only to meet with a driving spurt from the Germans who went on to win by three quarters of a length. England took third place, two lengths behind America, while Scotland was fourth.

The English crew vindicated themselves in the International Trial Eights which they won from the World by two lengths, Scotland being third. The latter two crews had a thrilling fight for second place, whereas England established themselves in the lead by a spurt at the half mile which advantage they never relinquished. It was a grand race, the three crews rowing level for the first half mile, until the English crew's superiority told. England was represented by: R. A. O. Mayne, G. F. C. McLorn, H. Farmer, J. R. M. Warner, G. H. Blatchford, H. C. F. Aris, R. Dodd and W. K. Corneck.

Arrangements for the regatta were excellent, the east end of Holts Wharf being roped off for spectators. Stands and chairs were sufficient to cope with the large crowd who made the journey downriver, and the catering facilities were equal to the occasion, lunch being served during the tiffin interval. Rain fell after tiffin just as the International Trial Eights went to the start, and although spectators had to scurry for shelter from the godowns, the crowd made the best of the conditions.

The River Police under Superintendent W. C. Woodfield co-operated very successfully by keeping the course clear. The Japanese Authorities showed interest in the function and one of their staff visited the regatta, being entertained by the Captain.

The first event in the morning was the International Trial Fours wherein four crews went to the starting post. America and Germany got the best of the start, with England slightly behind and Scotland badly left. A fast rate of striking was maintained by the crews, the Germans settling down to a long and steady 30, America holding 32 and England 30.

The Germans on the Pootung shore took a slight lead, their length and clean bladework being very apparent, while America's power, and snappy stroke held them vieing for the lead. England was only just astern of these two until the half mile, when a big wave from a passing launch swept into the boat, knocking the stroke's car out of his hand, and thereby halting the crew. They made the best of the occasion thereafter and spurted to catch the two leaders, but these were by this time a clear length ahead.

Germany held their lead, but only by the barest of margins, the Americans being always only half a length behind. At the quarter mile America spurted and came up almost level, the two crews going all out for the finish. Here the Germans brought off their final spurt and were able to go on and win by three-quarters of a length, while England was third and Scotland fourth.

The International Trial Eights, the first race after the tiffin interval produced some fine rowing. England and the World got away to the best start, and rowed level for the first quarter mile, with Scotland only a canvas behind. The Scots dropped back on the World who went slightly ahead, when their cox called for a spurt.

England responded and drew level, and these two crews could not make any impression on each other until the half mile. Here England again responded to a spurt from the World, and the English response was very impressive, their boat going out into a lead of half a length. From here their length told, stroke Mayne rowing beautifully and taking his crew ahead with power and length in his rowing.

Thrilling Race

Scotland had come up on the World and the latter two boats had a thrilling race for second place, whereas England gradually increased her advantage throughout the course, going to take a two length lead by the last hundred yards and their final spunt carried them in easy winners. The fight for second place was thrilling with the World taking second by a narrow margin.

The second event of the day was the griffin fours, an easy victory being scored by F. Holmes (stroke), E. A. Fabian, F. W. Dunhill, and G. Harrison, Lt. Swenceski, Lt. Funk, S. J. Ward and D. Ramplin coming in second and A. J. A. Guertz, J. C. Filman, W. B. Sim and J Larsen being third.

The winners established themselves in the lead and were never threatened whereas the fight for second place was close and interesting, Lt. Swenceski bringing his crew in ahead splendidly, his achievement being all the more notable in that the four had only been out together twice before the race, having rowed in separate crews previously.

Jardine Matheson & Company, represented by R. A. O. Mayne, (stroke), R. Corbett, B. H. McMichael, and W. K. Corneck won the Hong Fours from the Yee Tsoong Tobacco Company crew, while the Shanghai Power Company was third. The winners were able to go ahead shortly after the start and were never headed.

Some particularly good rowing was seen when the Veterans rowed over a half mile. Outstandingly interesting was the entry of some of the older oarsmen in the race, notably Carl Neprud, E. S. J. (Ted) Phillips and Gordon Day, all of whom have not been in a rowing shell for many years. Phillips was in the winning crew, and showed up very well despite his advanced years. J. B. Brown stroked the winning four, with T. Thowsen, A. Pressler and E. S. J. Phillips making up the crew. They were given a very close race by A. B. Wilkinson (stroke), W. R. Featherstonhaugh, C. S. Kimber and F. Berge, the third crew with B. Stone, (stroke), G. Day, C. Neprud, and T. Hoggarth following behind.

The Senior Fours showed A. Thoresen's crew up in the best light as they won from G. G. Forrestier's four by a length. The winners were a longer and heavier crew and with weight and power behind them had established a length lead by the half mile. From here they went on to win, although Forrestier came up to threaten with a spurt just as the Wharf was reached.

The Junior Fours brought off the first victory for the Americans, R. E. Perkins rowing in this race despite illness. He had dropped out of the International Trial Fours to have his place at No. 2 taken by L. Reierstad, but entered for the Juniors and the Junior Seniors. The race produced an interesting duel between the Americans stroked by W. H. Brockett, and H. Farmer's crew, the latter hanging on doggedly to Brockett's boat all the way down the course, the power of the American crew taking them through to win by a length. R. A. Dodd's crew was third.

Day's Closest Race

In the griffin pairs, F. Holmes and E. A. Fabian won handsomely from Lt. Swenceski and Lt. Funk, with the other crews following at long intervals.

The Junior Senior Fours produced the closest result of the day. Both crews had rowed in many races before this event, and the judges decided to shorten the course to ¾ of a mile. The Americans won by a canvas from G. Sevald's crew, the former leading all the way and the latter coming up at the finish to produce the best fighting finish of the day. The Americans rowed particularly well, and found their opponents hard to get away from, both crews spurting for the finishing flag.

Yankee Star Reinstated

Chicago, Nov. 5.

Judge Kenesaw M. Landis, High Commissioner of the Professional Baseball Leagues, today reinstated Johnny Broaca, former Yankee star.

Broaca, who was one of Yale's most famous athletes during his college career, quit the Yankees in the middle of the 1937 season without giving any reason for his action. He automatically forfeited US$10,000 salary and World Series cut by his move.—United Press.

Closing Day Events of Junior Golf Club

Rinks Games, Speeches and Presentation of Prizes

Yesterday the Shanghai Junior Golf Club, Lawn Bowls Section, closed their greens for the season with a whole day programme which commenced at 10 o'clock in the morning and continued well into the evening

One of the features of the day was the presentation of a replica of a lawn bowl, made by the Chief Petty Officers of H.M.S. Birmingham. This handsome piece of work was produced in copper with the crests of H.M.S. Birmingham and the Junior Golf Club on the bias and number sides. The other was the inauguration of the 'Gande Cup', presented by Mr. W. J. Gande, the president of the Club, to the winner of the club singles champion, which trophy was won by R. H. Miles.

The day started with rinks games in which a large number of the chief petty officers of the Birmingham participated, also several representatives of the police, the rink winning by the closest margin, A. L. Roberts (skip), A. L. Letchford, W. J. Powell and J. W. Allum, taking the prizes.

Tiffin was then served after which a further game of rinks and a rinks game for ladies, five in each rink, were played. Rain curtailed play and the scores were taken at this point the winners being A. Higgs (skip), A Hill, C. Fulcher and L. Shaw for the gentlemen and Mrs. Roberts (skip), Mrs. Stebbeds, Mrs. Watt, Mrs. Dowe and Mrs. Poole for the ladies.

Before calling upon Mrs. A. D. Denton, the wife of the Lawn Bowls Section's Captain, to present the trophies and prizes for the season, Mr. A. M. Benton, the Club Secretary, indicated that C. E. R. A. Powell of H.M.S. Birmingham had the ship's presentation to make to the Club. Mr. Powell, in a brief speech, stated that on behalf of those present he had great pleasure in handing over the souvenir which indicated their appreciation of the hospitality extended.

Mr. A. D. Denton, in accepting the trophy on behalf of the Club, said that it would always bring back to the minds of the members the enjoyable and happy times which had been spent when the Birmingham was in Shanghai.

The club captain, Mr. P. J. Kane, said that he was pleased to be able to welcome such a large turn-out of members and guests, particularly those from the Birmingham. He also felt that, although the Junior Golf Club may not have ended the season very well in the League, they had justified their existence by providing two members in the victorious Interport team, K. L. Swartzell and J. W. Brierley.

Mrs. Denton then presented the prizes to the following winners and runners-up of the season's championships:—

Singles, 'Gande Cup.' Winner, R. H. Miles; Runner-up, R. S. Duff.
Singles Handicap.—Winner, K. L. Swartzell; Runner-up, R. Hill.
Novices 'Tom McKenna' Cup.—Winner, F. R. Stebbeds; Runner-up, H. Cranfield.
Club Pairs.—Winners, R. Thomson and R. Hill; Runners-up, A. D. Denton and F. R. Stebbeds.
Captain's Cup.—Winner, K. L. Swartzell; Runner-up, A. L. Roberts.

Saints Gain Splendid Victory Over Champion A.S.F. Team

Speed of Karolich and Foyn Proves Undoing of French Football Side at Canidrome

PLAYING inspired football, Saint Francis Xavier's College inflicted a severe trouncing upon the mighty Association Sportive Francaise and upset all predictions by a convincing score of 6-3 at the Canidrome yesterday morning. A small crowd of around 500 watched the contest which was full of excitement as the French went all out in futile efforts to avert the first defeat this season in the S.F.A. League.

The defending champions were known for their tactics of playing the backs far out so as to make the opponents lie in off-side position. Yesterday they underestimated the fleet-footed Schoolboys, who several times beat the opposition on the run. Of the half dozen goals scored, four came as a result of a burst of speed, Karolich, netting three shots in all, broke away twice. Freddie Foyn also streaked through on two occasions. The other goal was registered by Edwards, who played his best game as an outside-right.

While the forwards possessed the speed of lightning, the halves and backs were steady as a rock. Each one had his assignment and never let any opponent slip past. Meyer Greenberg hung himself on Roboostoff like a leech and was most instrumental in spoiling the French system of attack. Archekoff, a new right-half, did similar work against Jim Ward and had the latter tied up throughout the game. The two backs, Schultz and Borodin, gave a masterful performance and offered Kabbert, the keeper, hundred per cent. protection. Borodin was especially outstanding in his charge, although he was blamed for the loss of the Frenchmen's last goal, which closed the score to 4-3, through a poor clearance.

The teams were lined up at the start as follows:—

S.F.X.:—Kabbert, Borodin, Schultz, Garwood, Greenberg, Archekoff, Endaya, Patterson, Karolich, Foyn, Edwards.

A.S.F.:—Bocevitch, Neubourg, Collet, Michloff, Park, Segalen, Ward, Bossuet, Roboostoff Metais, Chooklantzeff.

Segalen Draws First Blood

The Saints kicked off against the western goal. Segalen stopped the Schoolboys' first movement and passed to Bossuet. The French captain sent Ward down for Schultz to concede a corner.

The French again carried the ball into the Saints' territory. Bossuet sent Ward through. The latter crossed a lovely one. Roboostoff was too slow to connect and Garwood saved at the expense of a corner. Choolantzeff sent in a fine kick. Segalen rose to the occasion and headed the ball into the net to draw first blood in the 9th minute.

In the 13th minute Edwards initiated a move. The winger sent Foyn through. Both French backs failed to cover and the S.F.X. captain lost no time to shoot the ball way out of the opposing keeper's reach and equalize.

The Schoolboys raided again in the next minute. Collet fell while trying to clear in front of the goal. Karolich dashed forward and banged the stray ball past Bocevitch to take a lead.

French Outplayed

During this stage the French were completely outplayed and seemed to have lost their confidence. Garwood, in the 18th minute, carried the ball over the centre line and put Karolich through. The S.F.X. centre started a sprint in which be beat both Park and Collet. From about 16 yards away, the soloist kicked a ground shot. Bocevitch fell but could only partially stop the ball from bouncing past the goal posts.

The champions fought doggedly. Bossuet interchanged with Ward, making a strategic move in an attempt to shake the latter loose from Archekoff's assignment of sticking to the winger. In the 28th minute, however, Roboostoff made a fine pivot and broke away from Greenberg to direct a first-time shot which sailed right into the corner of Kabbert's net.

With the score reading 3-2, both sides played their hardest. Each goal had narrow escapes but the narrowest was seen in the French area when Edwards sent a pile-driver against the rectangular for the third time.

After changing sides, Metais was the first to test Kabbert with a hard shot. It looked as if the French were coming back. The Saints broke away in the 3rd minute. Karolich dazzled through the opposition and, with only the goalie to beat, he slammed in a perfect shot to gain a 4-2 advantage.

Park Injured

A few moments later Karolich collided with Park and both were injured. The Schoolboy returned after two minutes almost fully recovered but Park did not re-enter until ten minutes later. Limping badly he took Choolantzeff's place at outside-right. The latter moved back to the half line with Segalen filling the pivot berth.

At the 16th minute stage Bossuet put the A.S.F. back to life when he tallied a beautiful shot following a poor clearance by Borodin. But the rally was short-lived for, in the next minute, Edwards finally found luck in a weak clearance by Neubourg. The winger scored easily to again widen the margin to 5-3.

In the 30th minute Foyn streaked through and notched the sixth goal. Later, he nearly tallied another shot. The ball was driven against the post. Endaya followed up but kicked wide. This ended the game's score and the victors were loudly cheered by the spectators for creating the season's first major upset.

Police Overwhelm Aurora 10-0

Deluge in Second Half of Soccer Game to Advantage Of Big Law Enforcers

Aurora was swamped by rain and the Police in yesterday's First Division soccer match, when the faster and heavier lawmen showed no mercy in winning by 10-0 at Kiaochow Park in the afternoon.

The first goal came from Greenberg fifteen minutes after the start when he dashed down the wing and crossed the ball over into the far corner of the net. Following this reverse the Aurora forwards tried hard to even the score and the crowd were treated to some very fast moves one of which is worthy of note. Ling had just received a pass from Wong when he was tackled by Stangaard.

Instead of dribbling or passing, he shot the ball well down the left wing and followed it up with Stangaard hot on his heels. Both men moved very fast and raced each other the whole way until Ling cleverly turned on the ball and shot it from a difficult angle towards the goal. Such was the force of the shot that Peasgood in catching the ball carried it over the goal line for a corner.

The second half started off in a heavy downpour that made the ground very slippery and the ball hard to control and this seemed to be to the advantage of the Police. The play seldom came out of the Aurora territory and goals came in quick succession. Crook scored the third goal from a pass by Woodley who a few minutes later again placed the ball beautifully to give Greenberg an opportunity to score the fourth goal. The 5th goal came from a corner kick taken by Woodley who centred well to Clarke;

It did not take Clarke long to get the 6th goal. The rain had now stopped but it had done the necessary damage to the pitch and many of the Aurora defence showed signs of wear. The Aurora goalkeeper did his best to save many of the shots and put many of them past the post by diving full length for the ball. The seventh goal came as a surprise when Gibson kicked the ball down to Douglas who let it go over his head to be caught by the goalkeeper. In running out to kick clear Wolfin slipped and fumbled the ball in such a way that it rolled back into the goal. Douglas scored the 8th goal and also the 9th. With only quarter of an hour to go the game became very slow and it was only 3 minutes from the end that Douglas again scored by shooting the ball up to the junction of the crossbar and the upright whence it rebounded in past the goalkeeper.

Police:—Peasgood, Stangaard, Shute, Westwood, Gibson, Roliz, Clarke Crook, Douglas, Greenberg, Woodley.

Aurora:—Wolfin Rousset, Walker, Poppoff, Z. S. Wong, T. L. Chong, Bigel, C. H. Hsu, T. Y. Wong, C. N. Tsai, C. P. Ling.

St. Leger Will Be Run Today

Merrylight Favoured in Spite of His Indifferent Showing on Saturday

BY "CHING"

Today is the second day of the Autumn Race Meeting—first saddling bell at 1.15. The afternoon's card is a good one as in addition to the St. Leger there are eight other races on the flat, three of which are handicaps, two being for griffins of this year, the other the Royal Navy Cup at 11 furlongs, kindly presented by the Commander-in-Chief and Officers, China Fleet.

The field for the 1¾ mile griffin classic is not likely to be a big one. Neither do I think the indifferent showing Merrylight made in Saturday's mile classic, when finishing third, being 3 lengths behind Cordon Rouge the winner, will stop him from being a starter today.

Others that may weigh out are Antonio, Bagshot, and Gumph, with possibly another from the Cire stable as well as Merrylight. Gumph, who won his ¾ mile race on Saturday, is a distance pony, but I cannot see him running into a better position than third place, if that. Both Antonio and Bagshot can be relied on to run well, but when it comes to fighting out the finish of the race, I expect to find only one in it, that one being Merrylight.

It is difficult to say for certain where many of the ponies will start during the afternoon, as quite a few have the choice of more than one race that they can weigh out for. However, after a careful study of the entries I think some of the following may be winners during the afternoon:—White Birthday, The Midget, Merry Jester, King of Kings, Gold Vase, Toodle-do, Experience, Duke of York.

Saturday's Big Dividends

On Saturday last a Forecast Pool was operated on four of the races only, the dividends paid out to the fortunate ones making correct forecasts were $26.80, $641.60, $1,026.80, $467.40, the biggest one being on the Criterions, this thanks to Benlomond who finished up second, which few expected to see him do.

Saturday's racing holds out promise of an interesting Champions on Wednesday, on the result of which a very big first prize in the Cash Sweep rests, and one that is daily growing in size and is expected to reach well over the $100,000 mark, with other substantial-sized prizes to the drawers of the second and third ponies, and also to those fortunate enough to draw a qualified pony.

The increased interest that is being taken in this season's Champions is because it appeals as being fairly open, possibly helped by the absence of that stand out pony Radiant Morn, who has been such a strong favourite for this classic race since he first started in it in 1935.

With two days' racing still to go before I can say which ponies will weigh out on Wednesday for this great 1¼ mile race, I will hold back my selection for winner, to appear in my notes in the "North-China Daily News" of that day.

Sports Facilities for Territorials

Lord Nuffield Contributes To Athletic Fund

SPECIAL TO THE "N.C.D.N."

London, Nov. 6.

Lord Nuffield, the celebrated motor-car magnate and philanthropist, had given £50,000 to start a fund to provide sports facilities for the Territorials, declared Mr. L. Hore-Belisha, Secretary of State for War, in a speech at the opening of the new headquarters at Acton of the 52nd A.A. Brigade. Lord Nuffield is Honorary Colonel of the Brigade.—Reuter.

Surprises Develop In C.S.F. Tennis

Squires Eliminated by Tsai; Carson Knocked Out of Doubles

David Tsai, a student of St. John's University, pulled two surprise victories in the second day's play of the Annual Open Hardcourt Tennis Championships at the Cercle Sportif Francais yesterday when he eliminated C. C. "Dud" Squires in the men's singles and then proceeded to oust L. D. Carson, Shanghai champion for the past four years, from the Mixed Doubles. Tsai teamed up with Miss Be-cee Lo while Carson partnered with Mrs. J. E. Perkins.

The singles upset was scored in three sets. Squires made a great start by reeling off the first four games and then won by a lop-sided margin of 6-1. Being too confident of winning and underestimating his opponent, the American permitted Tsai to travel on even terms and reach 4-all. The Chinese captured the ninth game on service and broke Squires' delivery to tie the contest at one-set all.

MEN'S SINGLES

1st Round.—K. M. Getz beat S. T. Wong by default; P. C. Hsu beat J. N. Hsu by default; H. G. M. Rompen beat B de Borodaewsky 6-2 and 6-4; P. K. Tong beat S. S. Wei 6-4 and 6-1; T. C. Wei beat Tonnie Wang by default.

2nd Round.—Mr. and Mrs. H. Collaco beat Miss Eardley and A. V. White 6-4 and 6-0.

Seaforths Overrun By French Forces

Aggressive Rugby Tactics Keep Scots Penned in Own Areas; Score 10-0

Playing a much more virile type of game, showing far better staying powers and delighting a large crowd with their aggressive tactics, a French Forces Rugby Fifteen took the measure of the Seaforths yesterday afternoon at the Race Course by 10-0, the score being made up from an unconverted try, a dropped goal and a penalty.

The French side comprising twelve service players and three local French police officers, have a very good understanding of the game and within the course of a month or so, after more practice, is likely to develop into a most useful aggregation.

The backs are fast, their handling is more than fair and they know how to run straight, while at least four of the forwards have some time or other played in good class rugger; they pack quickly and shove well, their hooker, Stourbe, being quite an adept at securing the ball in set scrums. Outstanding players in yesterday's match were Monnot at stand-off, Meyer, wing-three, and Dr. Carrel and Demail among the forwards.

The Scots started off in a manner that threatened to spell disaster for their opponents, Rainey, Peachey, R. D. MacLaglen and Poyntz showing up well, but as the game progressed they fell away. The Seaforths have the making of a good team but further attention will have to be paid to the simple essentials of the game before they can hope to succeed, several players continually being penalized for one infringement or another.

French forces:—Got; Meyer, Sanonnet, Richard, Russet; Vilm, Monnot; Groland, Stourbe, Lamond, Paume, Le Doze, Demail, Dr. Carrel, Bouche.

Seaforths:—Pte. Warnsley; Lieut. Payntz, Pte. Carruthers, L/C. Ross, Pte. Peachey; L/C. Rainey, Lieut. R. D. MacLaglen; L/C. Ward, Sgt. Butterfield, Pte. Rielley, Pte. Paul, Lieut. I. A. MacLaglen, Pte. Peck, Pte. Knowles, Pte. McPhee.

Referee: G. S. Dunkley.

French Kick Off

The French kicked off and for the first ten minutes the ball was mostly in mid-field. A good cut through by Rainey looked promising but after the ball had been passed to Peachey the latter was dragged down when five yards from his opponents' line. A lot of wild, aimless kicking from both sides then followed, although Rainey narrowly missed opening the score with a penalty from 35 yards range.

The Forces' side then attacked and Poyntz and R. D. MacLaglen saved several dangerous situations with some really good touch finding.

The play never reached a high standard, many infringements of a petty nature spoiling movement after movement with the result that the forwards were scrumming down for several minutes on end.

Half way through the first half, the British soldiers got away and a score seemed likely but Monnot, rushing across, pulled down his opponent when the latter was about to go through after receiving a perfect pass from a well executed three-quarter movement.

Scots Defend Desperately

The French then applied pressure and were seen on the attack for several minutes without stop. At this period the Frenchmen were shoving the Tommies all over the field in the scrums and getting the ball back with clockwork regularity. Shortly before half-time, from a loose scrum near the Scots' 25, the ball travelled across the pitch in an orthodox threes' passing movement, Meyer putting the finishing touches by running through and grounding the oval near the corner flag for an unconverted try. Demail just missed adding to the score from a penalty taken on the 25 yards' line shortly after.

After the interval, the French Forces launched attack after attack and penned the Scotsmen in their own half almost throughout the period, and it was only thanks to the desperate tackling of the Seaforths that a higher score was not recorded. Monnot was magnificent for the entire thirty minutes, his kicking and passing being very good indeed. Sending his threes away time after time and finding that his efforts came to nought, he himself took a hand in the proceedings and in the ninth minute dropped a beautiful goal from close in.

Shortly afterwards he rounded off a splendid performance by adding three more points from a penalty taken from a most acute angle, making the final score ten to nil.

Bombay Cotton Market

Bombay, Nov. 5.

Very quiet conditions prevailed in the Bombay cotton market during the past week, but the general undertone was very steady with fluctuations exceptionally narrow, following uninspiring advices from overseas' markets.

Business was purely professional, but a sudden burst of buying came into evidence during the latter part of the week on account of speculative and option interests.

The spot demand was fairly active, but the turnover was less than recently recorded. Japanese houses and Indian shippers to Japan showed moderate interest, while European exporters were interested in Broach varieties. Weather conditions were excellent in most districts.—Reuter.

London Money Market

London, Nov. 5.

With the usual November 1 Government and another dividend disbursements, loan supplies during the week under review, especially from non-clearing quarters, were plentiful for all requirements.

This abundance of loanable capital, however, had an adverse effect on discount rates which again moved to lower levels.—Reuter.

Reichsmark Rates

U.S. Commodities

Saturday's Closing Quotations

New York, Nov. 5.

Trading in the cotton market was early moderately active but the undertone was easier owing to lower Liverpool advices, liquidation and hedge selling, especially of later positions. The trade continued to buy nears, but a less active foreign demand for distants resulted in a widening of differences. Finally, the market partially advanced on moderate covering operations and closed steady, with quotations ranging from 1 point up to 6 points down.

The rubber market closed quiet, with traders awaiting the outcome of the International Rubber Regulation meeting. However, an underlying consumer interest was evident. At the last call over, losses of 2 to 5 points were recorded.

Wheat prices in Chicago commenced very quietly, with the firmness of corn being offset by the heaviness of Liverpool cables and reports of liberal clearances from European countries. Cash interests were fair buyers. Towards the close the market partially rallied on the Government's efforts to stabilize values and predictions of clear weather over the south-west. At the final bell, losses of ¼ to ⅜ of a cent were registered.

The sugar market early advanced on producer buying and scattered covering operations, owing to light offerings and the steadiness on London cables. Later, prices partially reacted on hedging and liquidation. At the close, quotations ranged from unchanged to a ½ point down.

New York Stocks

Saturday's Closing Quotations

New York, Nov. 5.

Stock prices on Wall Street today finished with minor gains predominating. Trading was very dull as operators showed a disposition to be cautious pending the outcome of the elections. Steels responded poorly to indications of an increase in mill activity next week, while coppers firmed up on expectations that the new Chilean Government will maintain a friendly attitude towards American interests. Meanwhile, sentiment for the long pull remains bullish, as business indices are expected to go still higher. The turnover today amounted to 430,000 shares.

Dow-Jones Summary

By Courtesy of Swan, Culbertson & Fritz

Trading on the Stock Exchange today continued to be slow, with sentiment appearing to be again on the cautious side. The nearness of the New York Automobile show produced firmness in motors, whilst the anticipation of another rise in steel operations next week aided steels. Traders were pleased with the announcement that a meeting of the Presidential and Railroad Committees would take place next Monday, and, at the same time, they were confident that the draft programme which would result therefrom would be favourable to the railroads. However, the attacks on utilities continued. Commodity prices are lagging behind.

Berlin Bourse

Berlin, Nov. 5.

The share market opened erratic but later in the morning stock was offered plentifully, causing price declines in almost all sections of the market. Among those prominent as sellers were certain great banks.

A noticeable feature of today's business was the downward trend of bank shares which but a week ago were exceedingly buoyant. Operators showed great reserve. Reports of Mannesmann and Gutehoffnungshuette had no stimulating effect on the market although both were exceptionally satisfactory.

Fixed interest securities were comparatively firm, industrial bonds being particularly brisk. Siemens & Halske rose ½ to 183. Harpeners stood ¼ better at 212. Reichs Old Liquidation Loan however weakened ⅜ to 131⅜.

Call money stood at 2⅜ to 2⅝ per cent.—Trans-Ocean.

Canada Trains R.A.F. Officers

First Batch Under New Plan Arrives in London

London, Nov. 6.

Nine pilot officers trained in the Royal Canadian Air Force for the R.A.F. have arrived in England. They are the first draft of short service commission officers to complete their flying training under the Anglo-Canadian trained cadet scheme recently concluded.

The scheme provides for 15 selected officers to receive one year's training with the Royal Canadian Air Force each year. They then come to Britain to serve five years on a short service basis with the R.A.F. At the conclusion of their R.A.F. service, the officers transfer to the Royal Canadian Air Force reserve for a further four years.—Wireless through Reuter.

French Students Stage Demonstration

Paris, Nov. 5.

"France for the French," many students shouted today when the Minister of Education, M. Jean Zay, arrived at Sorbonne University for the solemn re-opening ceremony.

Several other students went into the college building and set free pigeons which they smuggled in under cover of their clothes. The police arrested three of the students, charging them with insulting officials. —Havas.

Casualties Heavy in Yangtze Fighting

119,000 Chinese Reported Killed; Japanese 6,000

Tokyo, Nov. 6.

Chinese casualties in Central China fighting from August to November 4 were estimated to total 350,000, including 119,000 dead, in a communique issued last evening by the War Office. Prisoners numbered 3,200. The statement disclosed that 6,153 Japanese soldiers were killed during this period.

Booty taken by the Japanese included 90 motor lorries, 303 guns, 233 heavy machine guns, 1,044 light machine guns, 8,028 shells, 8,715 hand grenades, 260 mines, a large number of rifles and "enormous quantities" of ammunition, in addition to two gunpowder magazines "fully packed." It was estimated unofficially that the Japanese forces in Central China had defeated about 130 divisions numbering 800,000 men.—Domei.

Acids in Blood-
must be removed by Kidneys
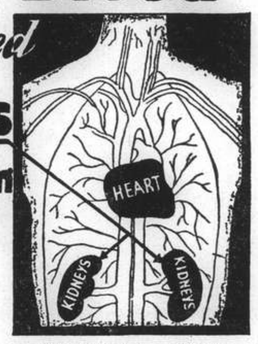
Or your system is poisoned



Your Health is Undermined and You May Suffer from Nervousness, Circles Under Eyes, Lack of Vitality, Getting Up Nights, Dizziness, Leg Pains, and Feel Tired, Run-Down, and Worn Out

There is nothing that can so quickly undermine your health, strength, and energy, as an excess of acid in your blood. Most people when thinking of Acidity think of the stomach. However, the type of acidity that undermines health is that arising in the blood and often caused by worry, overwork, fear, late hours or over-indulgence, thus placing a heavy strain or load on the kidneys.

Nature has provided an automatic method of getting rid of these excess Acids in the blood. This is accomplished by your Kidneys, the most intricate and delicate organs in your body. Each kidney, although only the size of your clenched fist, contains 4½ million tiny, delicate tubes or filters. Your blood circulates through these tiny filters 200 times an hour, or so frequently that in a 24-hour period the kidneys actually filter and purify 31 gallons of blood, so that the Acids and poisonous wastes may be removed.

Causes Many Troubles

Dr. Walter R. George, many years Health Commissioner of Indianapolis, U.S.A., recently stated: "Modern foods and drinks, nervous strain, worry, and overwork, place a tremendous load on the kidneys. For this reason it is estimated that millions of men and women at times are troubled with poorly functioning kidneys. In fact this condition is often the real cause of thousands of people feeling older than they should, run-down, exhausted, nervous, and worn out."

If your kidneys slow down and do not function properly and fail to remove approximately 3 pints of Acids, Poisons, and liquids from your blood every twenty-four hours, then there is a gradual accumulation of these Acids and Wastes, and slowly but surely your system becomes poisoned. Kidney and Bladder Troubles cause many diseases, such as Nervousness, Getting Up Nights, Leg Pains, Dizziness, frequent Colds and Headaches, Rheumatism, Pains, Swollen Ankles, Circles under Eyes, Backaches, Loss of Vitality, Burning, Itching and Smarting, Acidity.

Help Kidneys Doctor's Way

Chemists and doctors in 51 countries throughout the world think that the right way to help your kidneys function is with the doctor's prescription Cystex, which is scientifically prepared in accordance with the requirements of the United States and British pharmacopoeia to act directly on the kidneys. For instance, Dr. C. Van Straubenzee, noted European physician, stated: "I consider Cystex one of the most meritorious formulae I have ever examined, and recommend it most highly." And Dr. C. J. Roberts, formerly of the Philadelphia General Hospital, states: "In my years of practice I have employed many medicines and prescriptions to improve the functional action of the kidneys, but in my opinion there is no preparation that excels the prescription known as Cystex."

Make This 8-Day Guaranteed Test

If you are run-down, worn out, feel older than you are, or suffer from the diseases previously mentioned, Kidney and Bladder Troubles likely are the real cause of your trouble. At any rate it will do you no harm to put Cystex to the test and see exactly what it can do in your particular case. Under the guarantee, in 8 days' time it must do the work to your complete satisfaction, or you merely return the empty package, and the full purchase price is refunded without question or argument. With Cystex there is no long waiting for results, because it is scientifically prepared to act directly on the kidneys. For that reason most people report a remarkable improvement within the first forty-eight hours and complete satisfaction within 8 days. In testing Cystex, you are the sole judge of your satisfaction. You must feel younger, stronger, and better than you have in a long time—you must feel that Cystex has done the work thoroughly and completely, or you merely return the empty package and it costs you nothing. Cystex costs little at chemists, and as the guarantee protects you completely, you can not afford to take chances with cheap, inferior, or irritating drugs or any medicine that is not good enough to be guaranteed. Ask your chemist for guaranteed Cystex to-day.
